SUICIDE SEEMS TO BE ONLY SOLUTION

No Motives Are Found For Other Theories Suggested to Explain Milroy Woman's Death.

NO VERDICT FOR SOME TIME

Joshua Grace, Who is Recovering, Will Not Testify at Coroner's Inquest Until Tomorrow.

Although there will be a verdict in the case, it appeared probable today that the mystery of the death of Mrs. Sarah Grace, who was found dead in her home in Milroy Sunday morning, will never be solved.

Her husband, Joshua Grace, former Milroy druggist, who was almost asphyxiated at the time his wife lost her life, is the only person known who can throw any light on the case, and he has stated that he does not know what caused Mrs. Grace's death.

When he recovers from the effects of the shock, it is possible that Mr. Grace, who will testify at the coroner's inquest tomorrow, may be able to give some further details concerning the incidents of the night when Mrs. Grace died.

Taking Mr. Grace's testimony was deferred until tomorrow by the coroner, Dr. John M. Lee, at Mr. Grace's request, because it is believed that his mind will be clearer by that time. He was in a stupor all day Sunday and most of yesterday, and did not realize that his wife was dead until yesterday afternoon, although he had been informed Sunday that she was dead. Mr. Grace showed great grief when he apparently began to realize what had happened.

Dr. Lee stated today that he might not return a verdict himself, owing to the strange aspects of the case, but instead leave it to the coroner's jury. In any event, no verdict will be reached for several days, pending further developments.

The coroner will not order a post-mortem on the body of Mrs. Grace unless there is some evidence to show that her death was not suicide. Thus far, it is stated that nothing has been found to indicate that she met her death at the hands of another person. The evidence of the

DANGER FROM HIGH WATER DISAPPEARS

Concern Felt Late Monday Because of Continued Rain, But Flood Was Receding Today

NO SERIOUS DAMAGE CAUSED

High water which has caused citizens much anxiety in the last thirty-six hours, has receded today until there is no danger whatever. Many of the streams about the city overflowed their banks and at present the lowlands along Flatrock are still under water. Much concern was felt late yesterday afternoon when the rain continued to fall and one family is reported to have moved from their home to be out of danger.

The water was within a few inches of the mark set in 1916 but several feet under the record high water mark during the flood in 1913. Although many fences were washed away by the high water, no serious damage was reported.

Total rainfall during Saturday, Sunday and Monday was 3.70 inches. Total rainfall since the first of the month is 5.05 inches, which is 1.02 above the normal rainfall for March. The total rainfall for January, February and March is 10.70 inches, being 3.59 inches below normal for the period of the three months.

REVENUE OFFICER IS HERE

Retail Tobacco Dealers Urged to Submit Inventories to Him.

Retail tobacco dealers, who have their inventories made out may submit them to Mr. Barnes, the revenue officer, who is now at the postoffice. Mr. Barnes will be located at the postoffice the rest of this week and no longer and it is urged upon all whose duty it is to see him, to do so as soon as possible. Those who do not have the blanks are urged to go to Mr. Barnes' office at the postoffice and secure them and fill them out. It is of vital importance to all retail tobacco dealers that they see Mr. Barnes during this week.

PRESIDENT MEETS ALLIED PREMIERS

Disposition of German Warships and Cables Among Questions Discussed Today

LEAGUE DRAFT READY SOON

Probably Will be Submitted for Inclusion in Preliminary Peace Pact Saturday

(By United Press.)

Rome, Mar. 12.—Italy will demand an indemnity of $3,000,000,000 from Austria-Hungary, it was reported officially today. One billion of this will be asked in cash, the remainder to be paid within the next five years through iron shipments.

Paris, Mar. 18.—The sub-committee of the league of nations commission met today, two days ahead of schedule. All neutral countries with the exception of Spain were represented.

President Wilson met the allied premiers today to continue discussion of such outstanding questions as dismantling of the Heligoland and canal fortifications and disposition of the German warships and cables. The next meeting of the supreme war council will be held tomorrow afternoon.

The league of nations covenant as it is to be submitted for inclusion in the preliminary peace treaty with Germany, will be ready Saturday, it was indicated in certain official circles today.

At the same time it was stated that the entire treaty, including the covenant, will be completed by a week from Saturday.

The league itself will be an actual fact within a few weeks unless Germany refuses to sign the preliminary treaty or the various allied parliamentary bodies refuse to ratify the pact. So far as the Germans are concerned, British opinion is that creation of the league is the one thing most likely to lead the enemy to ready acceptance of the less pleasing terms.

The committee on the responsibility for the war has reached the stage of including the reports of its various sub-committees in a single recommendation. But the other recommendations are not so far advanced. Neutral representatives are now calling on Col. House to present their views of the league.

Added to the prospect for early completion of the peace program is the fact that Premier Lloyd George has practically decided not to return to England this week as he had originally planned.

BARDBURN PARDONED

Indianapolis, March 18.—Conditional pardon was granted by Gov. Goodrich today to William Bardburn convicted in the Connersville city court January 21, 1919, and sentenced to sixty days in the penal farm and fined $150. He was paroled in custody of officials of the state prison.

NO ADDITIONAL PAY FOR TRUSTEES

Attorney General and Board of Accounts Say no Fees Are Allowed For Enumeration

VOTERS MAY NOT BE LISTED

Law Gives Permission to Employ Assistants in Taking Enumeration of School Children

Ruling directly on a Henry county case, the attorney general and the state board of accounts have decreed that township trustees are not entitled to additional compensation for taking the enumeration of voters and for obtaining the school enumeration. The question was put up to the state board of accounts and in return submitted to the attorney general when the trustees here desired to know just where they stood on a matter of compensation for taking the enumeration of voters, considered a useless piece of work.

Since the trustees see no more pay in sight for a lot of additional work, the indications are that the enumeration of voters will not be taken, unless the county council makes an appropriation or unless the matter gets into the courts. The law provides for the township trustee taking both enumerations and in the case of the school enumeration he is authorized to employ assistants, but nothing is said specially about assistants in taking the enumeration of voters. The state board of accounts and the attorney general, however, in the opinion received here, declare that if the trustee hires assistants to take the voters' enumeration the county bears the expense. The county could stand the expense, but there is no appropriation for this specific work and under the law there must be an appropriation before the work is contracted for. The trustees are not "crazy" about taking this enumeration, which is done every six years, and as a result the county council is not likely to be asked for the appropriation.

The ruling received here suggests to the township trustees that in employing assistants for the school enumeration they should either be paid by the day or by the head and

NOT AUTHORIZED TO RECORD THEM FREE

County Recorder Here Not Notified to Accept Discharges for Recording Without Fee.

WORD RECEIVED ELSEWHERE

Other county recorders in the state have been notified to accept the discharges of returned soldiers for recording free of charge, according to a report received from the secretary of state, but the local office has received no notification to this effect. A bill to allow soldiers to record their discharges free was passed by the legislature and it is presumed the governor has signed it.

The instruction was sought in other counties because many protested against a fifty cent recorder's fee that is being required of returned soldiers for recording their discharge papers. The recorder has no authority to record the discharges free but is expecting the notification at any time. The papers have been accepted for record and have been put in the miscellaneous column but when instructions are received to record them free of charge, a special blank will be filled out for the discharges and those that have been recorded in the present list will have to be transferred from the miscellaneous to the special list.

APPEAL RECEIVED BY POSTMASTER

All Owners of War Savings Stamp Are Requested to Hold Them Until Maturity

IT IS A PATRIOTIC DUTY

Although the Fighting Has Ceased The Government Still Needs Financial Help

An appeal has been received by Postmaster G. P. Hunt from A. M. Dockery, 3rd. Ass't. Postmaster General urging the people to retain their War Savings Stamps until the date of maturity. He states that it is a good investment and as the Government still needs funds although fighting has ceased it is their patriotic duty to hold their certificates. The appeal is given herewith:

Regulations of the Postmaster General and instructions of this office heretofore issued have clearly defined your duties in respect to the sale of War Savings certificate stamps and the procedure necessary for their payment. They are not transferable, but when stamps are properly affixed to a War Savings certificate, owners of stamps are entitled to payment after ten days' notice in writing—Unregistered War Savings certificates at any money-order postoffice and registered War Savings certificates only at the office and registered War Savings certificates only at the office of registration.

Many owners of stamps are presenting them for payment, seemingly on the assumption that the Government no longer needs the money received for them. While it is true the war is practically at an end, it is equally true that a large part of the expenditures of the war must still be met by the sale of War Savings stamps and Liberty Loan bonds. The sudden termination of the war left the Government involved in expenses that might in part have been avoided if it had been known when the war was to end, but of course it was not possible to anticipate this event. The financial obligations of the war must therefore continue for many months, and the National Treasury needs the money received from the sale of War Savings stamps to aid in meeting them. The expenses of demobilization

PLANS COMPLETED FOR THE AUTO SHOW

Decorators Arrive And Will Dress Modern Appliance Building Up In Festive Attire.

DANCE FRIDAY CLOSING SHOW

All arrangements have been completed for the automobile show to be given by Rushville dealers Thursday and Friday, in the building in West Third street, which was formerly occupied by the Modern Appliance company.

Decorators employed by the Kokomo Decorating company, which has the contract for decorating the interior of the building, have arrived here and are dressing the place up in festive attire in preparation for the event.

The show will open Thursday morning and will continue in the afternoon and Friday morning and afternoon. On Friday evening the machines will be moved out and a dance will be given by the local automobile dealers. A five-piece orchestra from Franklin will provide music for the show and the dance both. A platform has been erected in the center of the floor for the orchestra.

Twenty-five models of automobiles sold by Rushville dealers will be on display.

EXPECTED HERE IN 2 WEEKS

Miss Hazel Bennett Writes She Will be Discharged Soon.

Miss Hazel Bennett, who reached the United States last week with the nurses of Base Hospital No. 32, has written relatives here that she expects to be in Rushville on a visit within two weeks, and that she is the happiest girl alive to be back in this country. Miss Bennett also said that she expected to be discharged from the service soon. Miss Bennett saw active service with the base hospital unit and also with evacuation hospital units. She was decorated for fidelity to duty while in France.

SAYS THE GERMAN PEOPLE ARE CRAZY

Maximilian Harden Declares the Present Government Should and Will be Overthrown.

STILL HAS FAITH IN WILSON

Says Kaiser Could Return to Germany and Regain the Throne if he Was not a Coward.

(By United Press.)

Berlin, Mar. 18.—President Ebert today ordered War Minister Noske to abolish the standing order for execution of all persons opposing the government by force of arms. The president is understood to have taken this action as the result of a storm of protest from the radicals.

Berlin, Mar. 18.—Maximilian Harden, editor of Zukunft, and Germany's most outspoken citizen, told the United Press today that:

"The present government should be and will be overthrown."

"The German people are crazy."

"The kaiser, if he was not a coward, could return to Germany and regain the throne."

"Success of the league of nations and world peace depends upon close and friendly relations between Germany, Great Britain and America."

Harden is now in bad repute with all classes, with the old regime, because he continually fought them during the war, and with the revolutionists because Germany has not benefited so far by following President Wilson as he advocated.

"I am flooded with letters from people asking me why I told them to follow Wilson and why Germany is still starved by the blockade," said Harden. "I don't understand the latter but my faith in Wilson is undiminished. I am confident he will prevail. But it is hard to satisfy people who are hungry or those who are using the situation against Wilson and us liberals."

"Germany's new republican government is not anything to be proud of. It is entirely too much like the old regime. But for the time being it ought to be recognized and dealt with liberally to prevent Germany from falling into the hands of the Bolsheviks."

"The present government thinks it must build bridges from the old to the new regime instead of making the transit clean cut," he said.

"The government must be overthrown in favor of one that is honest and trustworthy. It is pathetic that no one was elected to the national assembly who possessed both ability and the confidence of the people. There are brains in Germany if they are only given a chance. The government does not realize the difficulty of the peace problems or Germany's position."

FIRE ON RIOTERS

Cairo, Mar. 18.—Three thousand rioters attempted to rush the railway station at Tanta. Egyptian police fired on them inflicting 22 casualties.

POSSIBILITIES OF NEW ROAD LAW

County Unit Statute Will Double Funds Available For Highways in The County

ADDED VALUATION HELPS TOO

Attorneys Disagree as to Whether Three-Mile Road Law Is Affected by New Measure

An opportunity for good roads, unsurpassed in the history of Rush county, is seen by Rush county men who have long been advocating highways of a permanent character, because of the action of the recent session of the legislature in passing the county unit road law, but there are some things regarding the law which will have to be cleared up before any proceedings are started under the statute.

Attorneys are not familiar with the law because they have not seen a copy of the bill as it was finally passed. Many were aware of its contents when it was introduced, but in its passage through the upper and lower house of the general assembly, many changes were made, and it is not expected any steps will be taken here to build roads according to its provisions until it is carefully studied.

Lawyers interested in good roads do not expect to have an opportunity to see the law until the acts of the legislature are published, which will be some time next month. But from what they have read about the new law during its course through the legislature, they do not agree on some of its points.

For example, one attorney says that while the county unit road law may not specifically repeal the three-mile road law, it at least does it by implication. His idea is that the two laws are so nearly alike, about the only difference being that one makes the county the unit and the other the township, that they would be in constant conflict. In addition, he points out, they make the limit of road bond indebtedness so high that a county could get too heavily in debt for highways.

On the other hand, attorneys may be found here who believe that the county unit road law may be used, in addition to the three-mile road law, for building permanent roads up to the county's two percent bonded indebtedness limit, without having any regard for the townships which have reached their limit.

It will be seen that if this is the case, counties are limited to a sum amounting to six cents on each hundred dollars of taxables, which will

"How Advertised?"

When a salesman tries to sell you a line of advertised goods, Mr. Storekeeper, ask him, "How advertised?"

Ask him if they are advertised to the people of this city in the newspapers which your customers read.

If they are advertised in the newspapers, you can be sure they will be easy to sell.

Newspaper advertised goods are seldom "shelf-clingers."

Two Battleships and Transport Arcadia Bring Troops Home

Newport, News, Va., Mar. 18.—The battleships South Carolina and Louisiana, and the transport Arcadia have arrived in Hampton Roads with returning troops. All the men on the South Carolina returned as casuals, among them being companies from Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Texas, Iowa and Ohio. Balloon companies D, E and F, and a surgical unit were among the Louisiana's passengers. The Arcadia brought home the 11th ammunition company, a Texas organization, and several casual companies.

TO LIMIT PACKERS PROFITS

Food Administration May Act Due to Mounting Hog Prices.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Mar. 18.—With the price of hogs climbing faster, food administration officials today indicated that some governmental action may be taken to limit the profit of the packers on pork and meat products.

They pointed out that the food administration still has authority to limit the profit under the food license system which was in use during the war. All the packers are still under licenses, it was stated.

CALLS THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS UNAMERICAN

George W. Harvey, Editor of North American Review, Riddles Pres. Wilson's Program.

SPEAKS AT COLUMBIA CLUB

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 18.—Pronounced opposition to the participation of the United States in the covenant for a league of nations, characterized as "the most un-American proposal ever submitted to the American people by an American President," was expressed by George Harvey, editor of Harvey's Weekly and the North American Review, in an address at the Columbia Club last night.

The dining room of the club was crowded to its capacity, and there was much applause as Mr. Harvey riddled the Wilson program. The subject of his address was "Washington or Wilson?" and he left no doubt about his preference for the policy of Washington, in warning his countrymen to beware of continuing alliances with foreign powers, and in advising them to safeguard above all other things the complete independence of the republic.

"I am opposed to yielding so much as a shadow or suggestion of the sovereignty of this republic," he said, and there was applause when he continued, "I would rather fight for the Monroe doctrine than for the Akoon of Swat."

HOOSIERS UNIT BADLY WANTED FOR CAMPAIGN

Publicity Department of Victory Loan Will Try to Arrange Plans For Parade

SAILING PORT IS CHANGED

Washington, Mar. 18.—If, as expected, the Rainbow division arrives in the United States in time to take part in the Victory loan campaign, every effort will be made to have the 150th field artillery, formerly the 1st Indiana, sent to Indianapolis.

Although plans call for demobilization of a major part of the division either at Camp Sherman, O., or Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky., the publicity department of the loan campaign will intercede with the war department to have the division split up into state units and each unit sent to its own state for demobilization. This would cause the 150th to go to Ft. Benjamin Harrison.

If this is not possible, the loan publicity department will attempt to have the division discharged as soon as it reaches this country and the men sent to their home states to take part in the loan campaign at the expense of the publicity department.

lizing the Army and Navy, the return of our boys from France, the care of our sick and wounded soldiers, and other liabilities incident to the war, all call for a continuance of the same patriotic effort that the owners of War Savings stamps made during the tragic struggle.

Nevertheless, the original owners of War Savings certificates with stamps affixed must be paid if payment is demanded, but I urgently request every postmaster to appeal to them courteously to refrain from demanding payment unless their financial condition absolutely requires it. I have full faith that when the people understand the needs of our Government they will defer asking payment until maturity of the certificates.

Thrilling Drama at Mystic

An extremely interesting and thrilling play is shown at the Mystic theatre today, with Tom Mix the star. The play, "Fame and Fortune" is the best thing Tom Mix has yet done.

The story tells of a young man who, born in the wildest part of the woods, suffers from the roving spirit. After years of wandering he returns home to find his father dead and an effort being made to cheat him of his inheritance. The conspirators try incidentally to murder him, but he escapes and falls into the hands of a young woman who nurses him back to life and with whom he falls in love.

But the real activity of the play is centered around a group of men who have left the town to become part of a new one. Tom Mix espouses the cause of the new town, and when the leader of the old gang tries to steal the girl the hero loves, there is a series of fights that stand out even in these days of heroism, both reel and real.

Charles Ray Here Tonight

Charles Ray is being shown tonight at the Princess theatre in one of his best productions, "String Beans." Ray appears as a green gawky, country boy who has all the fakers put to naught. The idea is to raise money through the farmers to build a string bean canning factory but Ray as the country boy proves that the scheme is a fake and wins the hands of the mayor's daughter in marriage. Tomorrow Alice Brady will appear in "The Hollow of Her Hand."

Medical Service in The Schools.

The greatest asset we have—far beyond crops and cattle and stocks and bonds is the children of our land. They will be the citizens of the next generation. And if they grow up to health and strength it will mean that they grow up to efficiency and power.

It is our manifest conditions to take whatever means we can to bring about the most favorable conditions for the health of growing children. That as a nation we have failed lamentably in this respect is shown by the number of men in the selective draft who were rejected for physical imperfection. Thirty-three per cent of our young men—one out of every three—were below the normal physical condition which makes a man fit for any army service.

Many of these young men were subject to physical disabilities which could readily have been prevented or remedied if they had been recognized and properly dealt with in the subject's childhood.

A thorough physical examination of each child of school age should be made twice a year. This would lead to the detection of many incipient troubles and their cure. The time will come when we shall see the services of a doctor and nurse available at every school in the land, as part of the school system.

The result will be healthier, happier and more efficient manhood and womanhood. We should all advocate such a provision for the health of children and should do all in our power to bring it about.

The Details at Last.

A Bolshevik was recently prevailed upon to elucidate the doctrines of bolshevism. He replied with the usual generalities about the abolition of wealth, etc., and being asked to give details of the program he explained that money must be abolished.

There would be a substitute, of course. We were not to return to the system of exchange and barter. There would be a certain kind of currency, but it could not be accumulated. A man who did any work would get a ticket at the end of each working day, representing his remuneration. It would have a date stamped upon it, and its validity would end in 48 hours.

He could either spend it in that time or lose it, and in this way the saving of money would be impossible. There would, therefore, be no capital.

Every sturdy community is largely a community of home-owners—not rent payers. But try to imagine a man buying a house with with a bunch of stamped and dated tickets which will all expire in 48 hours. Multiply this condition by the number of the population and you can visualize one of the funny features which we shall see when bolshevism achieves order out of chaos—when, in a word, it becomes systemized.

It is equally easy to imagine any kind of systematization under bolshevism government.

The president was running nicely on his way to the League of Nations when his senatorial engine stalled.

Senator Sherman looks like a peaceful and kindly gentleman. Who would have thought that he had a filibuster up his sleeve?

POSSIBILITIES OF NEW ROAD LAW SEEN

be double next year on account of the new state tax law which requires that all classes of property be appraised at their true cash value. This will more than double the money available for good roads next year. There will be not only the money to be derived from the two percent limit of the county unit law, but also double the amount available under the three-mile road law.

If the 3-mile road law is not repealed, which many believe is the case, the increased valuation will open up great possibilities for the townships, practically all of which are up to their bonded indebtedness on roads. Up until 1915, road petitions were considered by the commissioners in the order of their filing, with the result that most townships always had on file petitions for roads which could not be built for years. But four years ago the legislature amended the law so that petitions may not be filed until there is money available in the township road fund. Some townships have not finished the roads which were petitioned for before the amendment of 1915.

Even though the three-mile road law should be repealed by the county unit law, the status of any of the roads already ordered under the old township law would not be affected, in the opinion of attorneys. There are now three cement road contracts to be let within a month, to be built under the three-mile road law.

FRED SPACEY MEMBER OF THE FAMOUS FIRST PATROITIC RALLY TO BE HELD HERE MONDAY

Although Unable to go Overseas, Rush County Man Kept in Touch With Division's Activities

OTHER LOCAL BOYS BELONGED TO SPEAK AT MILROY SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spacey arrived here this morning for a short visit with relatives. Mr. Spacey has recently been discharged from the service at Quantico, Va. He enlisted early in 1917. Clarence Meyers of Milroy, Walter Trobaugh, Carmel McKinney and Tom Saunders, also enlisted at this time. He was stationed in the east during all his training and was a member of the famous First division of Marines that have covered themselves with glory. They were the ones that took Chateau Thierry and afterward when it was lost to them, retook it with very heavy casualties.

During this fighting Meyers, Trobaugh and Saunders were seriously wounded. Trobaugh is in the base hospital at Quantico, Va., at the present time and his chances for recovery are good, according to Spacey. Meyers is receiving treatment overseas and is also recovering rapidly. Saunders has recovered and is now on duty. Spacey did not get to go overseas with his company on account of having the influenza.

He stated that they were continually hearing from their company and its activities and that several times the company was reduced to fourteen and sometimes twelve men. Only nine of the original company are living to tell the story of those fierce battles. One other member, Spacey said, was in the base hospital at Quantico with the right lung completely cut away on account of inhaling gas and he also had six bullet wounds that had completely passed through his body.

Mr. and Mrs. Spacey will go from here to New Salem where they will visit relatives and friends for some time before going to housekeeping.

WORKERS SOUGHT FOR EUROPE

Goshen, Ind., March 18.—Goshen College received an appeal from the American Friends committee of Philadelphia, a Mennonite organization, asking that from fifty to seventy-five men be obtained for reconstruction work in France, Siberia and Russia. Twenty-five students or former students of Goshen College are now in France and twelve in Armenia. Most of the persons connected with the college had been listed as conscientious objectors during the war.

The earliest steam vessels also carried sails, the idea being to relieve the stress on the engines.

D. D. NOT NEEDED WINNING SOULS

Evangelist Miller Says Many Laymen Have More Influence With Friends Than Minister

SHOULD BE MAN'S BUSINESS

"Chickens Come Home to Roost" Will be Theme of Sermon at M. E. Church Revival Tonight

"Chickens Come Home to Roost," is the subject of the sermon which Evangelist Miller will deliver at St. Paul's M. E. church this evening following the regular song service beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Last evening's attendance exceeded expectations, considering the inclement weather, and an interesting meeting was held. The Rev. C. S. Black and Mrs. Black sang a duet during the preliminary service just before the evangelist delivered his stirring sermon on "A Question for Scoffers, Skinflints and Skeptics," in which he made a strong appeal for all of his hearers to win souls to Christ.

Decision Day which was previously announced for last Sunday was not held at that time on account of the weather and will be held instead on next Sunday at the regular morning service.

"If any one should say to you, 'What is your business,' your answer should not be I am a doctor, or lawyer or whatever your profession is, but your answer should be, 'My business here is winning souls to Christ and I am lawyer on the side,'" stated the speaker last evening.

"I wonder how many of you folks here have had the joy of winning others to Christ," he went on. "Over in Proverbs we read, 'He that winneth souls is wise.' It doesn't say that you have to have education to win souls. A person may be a walking encyclopedia and yet not be wise if he does not win souls. Look at Charles Finney, Gypsy Smith, Billie Sunday and many other of the world's biggest soul winners—they aren't men of higher education.

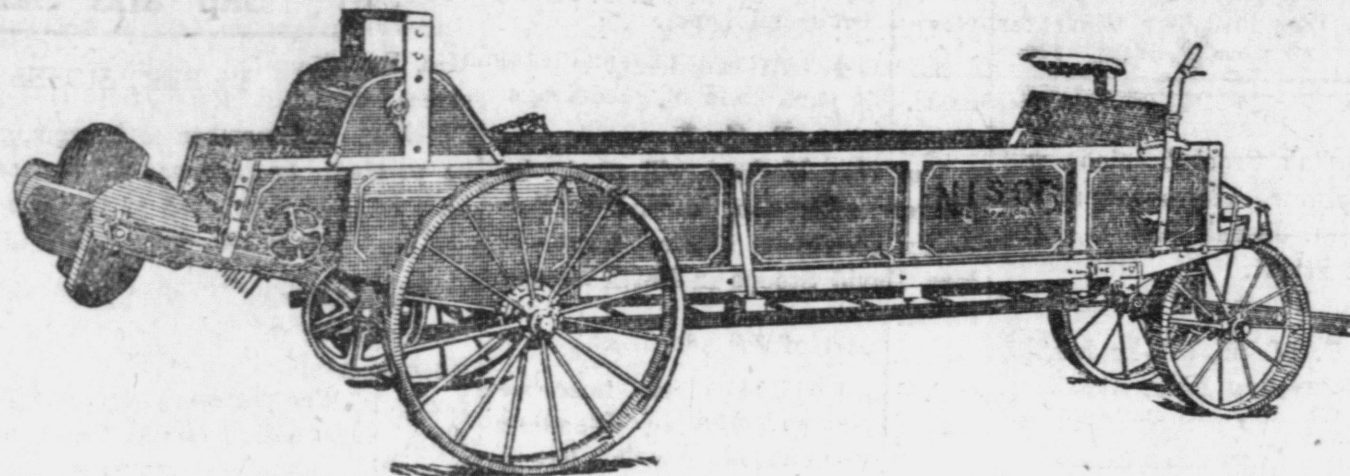

"Jesus picked up the illiterate fishermen as soul winners. Peter, impulsive, impetuous Peter, won 3,000 souls in one sermon and had greater success in that way than Paul, who in many ways was better educated than was Peter," he stated.

"A lot of people think if your business is soul winning you ought to have a Rev. on the front of your name and a D. D. on the back. That is not the case. Many laymen will have more influence on their friends and could get closer to them than could a minister. God has paid big investments on all of us and woe be unto us if we are a disappointment to God. Don't say that you cannot win souls. You do not know what you can do until you try." Here the evangelist told some unusual stories of experience he has had with persons who wished to win souls and had remarkable success. The story of a 14-year-old girl who brought 23 souls to Christ in one evening in a service was told by him.

"The Gospel emphasizes two words—they are 'Come' and 'Go.' It says 'Come unto me all ye that labor and heavily laden and I will give you rest,' and then it says, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.'"

Here the evangelist told the thrilling story of a big fire in Chicago when a fireman climbed on a fire ladder to the fourth story of a hotel to save a woman whom he had never seen.

"The man could have told his

RHUM DOG IS MISSING

Hammond, Ind., Mar. 18—Hammond rhum players have asked the police to make a search for Rex, a bull terrier, who has strayed. Rex served faithfully as the lookout for a card game patronized by leading professional men. He knew who should be admitted and raised a warning howl at the approach of an intruder. It is feared some reformer may have "dognapped" Rex. The owner of the valuable dog is Attorney Joseph Conroy.

TROOP SHIPS MAY BE DELAYED BY A STRIKE

Marine Workers Threaten to Withdraw Crews From Boats by Army and Navy

NEW DEMANDS PRESENTED

New York, March 18.—Marine workers on strike here threatened today to withdraw crews from all boats operated by the army and navy unless union crews on chartered tugs and boats are paid the same wage scale as is paid by the railroad administration. The crews of fourteen tugs chartered to coal troop ships walked out yesterday when they learned they were to be paid at the old scale and not the increased wages under the agreement recently made between the unions and the railroad administration, the army and the navy and the shipping board.

The sailing schedules of the Adriatic and other troop ships are expected to be delayed from two days to two weeks by this tieup in the harbor situation. Further complications are looked for when the unions take up complaints that a "secret pact" exists between the railroad administration and the private boat owners. The controversy between the union and private boat owners was apparently far from solution today, the union leaders demanding an eight-hour day as a basis of settlement and the owners emphatically refusing to concede it.

CLUBBED TO DEATH

Copenhagen, Mar. 18.—General Von Armin, former commander of the German armies in Flanders, was clubbed to death by a mob of infuriated peasants in Bohemia, it was reported in dispatches received here today. The murder of Von Armin followed his firing shots at peasants who trespassed on his ground after the peasants pillaged the castle.

NO ADDITIONAL

PAY FOR TRUSTEES

Continued from Page One suggests that where the assistants are employed by the head the compensation be from seven to eight cents or ranging in price from five to ten cents a head depending on the locality. This money is to be paid by the trustees out of the special school fund, for which every township has a levy.

If the enumeration of voters is taken it must be completed by July 1. There is no specified time for starting the work, only that it must be completed by this date. The school enumeration begins on April 10 and must be completed by April 30. The trustees can see no good reason for taking the enumeration of voters, especially since it means a lot of additional work without any more pay. The attorney general does not touch on the point as to whether this enumeration is compulsory.

Along with the school enumeration the trustees this year will take an enumeration of soldiers and sailors. Under instructions issued soldiers and sailors of the world war are to be listed along with the veterans of other wars.

There are three enrolled Red Cross nurses in Africa: one in India, 26 in China, 17 in the Philippines, one in Persia, 26 in the Canal Zone, two in South America and others in Turkey, Egypt, the Samoa Islands and Korea.

Mrs. Mary Cruse was hostess for the Y. W. C. of the Second Baptist church Friday afternoon, March 14. At this time a shower was also given for Miss Lula May Newsom the bride-elect, who received many beautiful and useful presents. After the business session the afternoon was spent socially and dainty refreshments were served.

REVIEWS RAINBOW MEN

Coblenz, Mar. 18—General Pershing Monday afternoon reviewed and delivered a farewell message to the Rainbow division. General Flagler led 15,000 men past their commander. The division, it was announced, will leave for home by way of Antwerp the first week in April.

Thursday Auto Show Friday

We congratulate our Auto Dealers upon their first united show of our history. It can not fail to be an event of actual value to our fair City and County.

Advanced methods of both farming and merchandising require the use of a vast number of gas driven machines to insure the superlative degree of success. The wise will see, hear, and know all he can of this indispensable subject.

Without any idea of exaggeration or over-rating—because of the larger number of persons that are affected by our service—we consider it vastly more important that a like knowledge be acquired of our own preparation for your needs in our three departments — Dry Goods and Accessories—Ladies' and Misses' Read-to-Wear, Floor Coverings — Draperies — Shades — Kirsch Rods.

We invite you to attend this worth-while event, and should our business place be found convenient, make it your headquarters. And in any way that we may be able to serve you, it will be done, as is our custom, the best we know.

FRISKY GARDEN TEAM ON A BRISK MORNING

These boys got up early one brisk spring morning, and in a couple of hours they had the soil of their garden plot broken up and free of clods.

The gardener who has no roller can get rid of his clods by breaking them with a hoe, spade, or other tool. Clods lock up within themselves the food that plants must have in order to grow, and they must be broken up thoroughly if the gardener expects to get the best returns. In spading the garden the clods should all be broken with the edge of the spade as the soil is being turned over. Where the garden is plowed clods can be broken to best advantage just behind the plow and before they have a chance to dry.

NEWHOUSE FUNERAL TODAY

Services For Former Rush County Man at Home Near Kingston

The funeral services of Marshall E. Newhouse, who died at the Methodist hospital in Indianapolis last Friday night following an operation, were held this afternoon at the late residence near Kingston, Decatur Co. Many relatives from this county, where Mr. Newhouse was born and reared, including three brothers who live in the county, attended the funeral.

The body will be buried at Kingston. He died in a hospital at Indianapolis Friday night. Mr. Newhouse was a prominent agriculturist and was a leader in farmers' institute work. He was one of the originators of the Independent Telephone Company of Decatur county. When in the legislature, Mr. Newhouse was author of the southern prison bill, the $700 mortgage exemption bill and the bill establishing the Southeastern Hospital for the Insane.

PIONEER WOMAN OF THE COUNTY IS DEAD

Mrs. Rhoda J. Tittsworth, Age 73, Expires at Her Home in Noble Township of Apoplexy

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY, 2 P. M.

Mrs. Rhoda J. Tittsworth, age seventy-three years, a pioneer resident of Rush county, died at her home in Noble township last night of apoplexy about ten o'clock. Mrs. Tittsworth suffered a stroke yesterday afternoon and never regained consciousness. She was very similarly afflicted two years ago although physicians did not then pronounce it apoplexy.

Mrs. Tittsworth was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Applegate and was born September 9, 1845, in Noble township, where she was reared and spent her whole life. She was the widow of George W. Tittsworth, a veteran of the civil war, who died May 15, 1906. Mrs. Tittsworth was a member of the Christian church from early life and was always a faithful and effective worker. She took an active interest in agricultural affairs and successfully managed her own farm as long as her health would permit. John A. Tittsworth of this city and Ernest R. Tittsworth of Noble township, her son, and one brother, Oscar Applegate of Noble township, are the only survivors. The funeral will be held at the late residence Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock by the Rev. L. E. Brown and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

Coroner's inquest shows that Mr. and Mrs. Grace did not have an enemy and that, so far as neighbors had observed, they were very devoted and lived together in perfect harmony. No motive for robbery, of which murder would be the outgrowth, is seen because Mr. and Mrs. Grace, it is declared, had no money in the house and were not in the habit of keeping money at home.

The theory of a suicide pact is discounted by the failure to find any opiate of any character in the house, or anything that might have contained an opiate. Mr. Grace told the coroner that the only thing resembling an opiate they kept was Dover's powders, which the coroner found. The belief was first expressed that Mr. Grace was suffering from an overdose of morphine, judging by his actions, but it is said that they might have been attributed to other causes.

The most accepted theory seems to be that Mrs. Grace committed suicide, because a motive can be found for such an act, and also attempted to take the life of her husband. The only missing link in the chain of evidence pointing to this theory is the exact manner in which Mrs. Grace came by her death. Physicians say that although a person could scarcely lie down before a fire in the position in which she was found, and literally burn to death, it is possible that she might have inhaled the flames, which would have resulted in almost instant death, or at least an unconscious condition, and death have been caused by the fire.

Her health is regarded as the motive if Mrs. Grace did commit suicide and also attempt to cause the death of her husband. It is settled beyond any doubt that Mrs. Grace suffered because of physical infirmities. It has been learned that she worried considerably because an operation for bladder trouble, performed in Indianapolis several weeks ago, had been unsuccessful.

Mr. Grace has said since he has regained consciousness that his wife was sick the night of the tragedy and that she was up several times. He once asked her if he could be of any assistance and she replied that method, however, has many obvious disadvantages. The element of time, the necessity for great skill on the part of the operators, the possibility of infection and inaccuracy in measuring the quantity infused are some of the prominent difficulties. As a matter of fact, in civil practice, wherein a great deal of blood transfusion work is done, those methods are practically obsolete.

Indirect Methods.

The big step in the development of the procedure for common use came with the introduction of the "indirect" methods. In these, blood from one individual is received in a receptacle and then injected into another individual. The person giving the blood, it may be well to state here, is always called "the donor" and the person receiving it "the recipient."

In these indirect methods a very important consideration is the prevention of coagulation of the blood between the time it is drawn from the "donor" and the time it is infused into "the recipient."

In civil medical practice some men use what is called the "syringe method," in which the blood is removed and injected by means of glass syringes. This procedure requires three persons in order to carry on one transfusion and depends upon the quickness with which they work to avoid the possibility of coagulation of the blood. If pieces of coagulated blood should happen to be injected into any individual, some small vessel in the body probably would become plugged, the damage resulting therefrom depending upon the location of the obstructed artery. Another method eliminates the possibility of coagulation by receiving the blood of "the donor" in a solution of some substance known to prevent coagulation.

With the foregoing facts in view, the medical men who were with the American expeditionary forces decided that whatever method was adopted it would have to be one as simple as might be and which could be taught and learned in a very short time, yet one as faultless as possible. The indirect method, using sodium citrate to prevent coagulation, was decided upon. Also a type of apparatus was devised to serve as a model for the standard outfit. This apparatus was made of glass bottles, glass tubing, rubber stoppers and rubber tubing. Very little skilled work was required in preparing a large number of the sets. At the central medical laboratory the outfits were prepared and put up in carrying cases. Every officer who took the course of instruction there was sent out with a set ready for use. In blood transfusion, besides the danger of coagulation, there are other equally important conditions that may be harmful and must be taken into consideration. Of these, two are of principal importance.

First, there is the danger of the transmission of disease through the medium of the transfused blood. An individual who is suffering from such a disease, of which malaria and syphilis are examples, must never be used as a donor.

Second, there is the possible biological incompatibility between two bloods.

How It Is Done.

In order to see the machinery in operation, let us say that a man in a condition of shock is brought into an evacuation hospital near the battle line. He is unconscious, cold, has a low blood pressure, and has suffered considerable blood loss before the flow had been stopped at the advance post. He is put in a special shock ward and on a special shock bed. The ward is warm, quiet, restful and well ventilated. As for the bed, that accentuates these conditions. Over it is extended a frame supporting the bedclothes in a manner that reminds one of a prairie schooner. An alcohol stove, placed upon the floor at the foot of the bed, delivers the heat into the "schooner" by means of a conducting pipe and a fenestra. The man lies under the covers with only his face exposed. It is deemed best to perform a blood transfusion upon the patient. A few drops of his blood are procured, and, by means of known serums, the blood group to which he belongs is determined. A glance at the list of donors and one is chosen who belongs to the same group. Blood is drawn from the donor into a receptacle containing sterile sodium citrate in the right proportion and this blood is injected into the wounded man.

To depart from the specific example, occasionally the blood was stored on ice for several days and then used, perhaps at the firing line. Such cases were relatively few, however. More often, if donors for almost immediate use could not be procured or were not to be had in sufficient number, a condition that arises during big attacks, certain fluid substitutes for blood were employed. As in the case of anticoagulants, there are many such fluids. Of course any blood substitute must be harmless to tissues and red cells alike. The old standard fluid substitute, which met these requirements, was sterile normal salt solution, and, although the immediate effect of intravenous saline is equivalent sometimes to even blood transfusion, the benefit is usually lost in a short time and an opposite, deleterious effect is produced. This result, it was found, could be avoided and a relatively permanent effect secured by the use of a fluid of the same physical properties as blood.

Mrs. W. T. Smith has received recent word from her son, Cassius Smith, stating that he is in the transportation corps. His duty is to transport Americans from the occupied region to Brest ready to sail for the States. He also said that he had a ten days furlough, during which time he went to see the sights in Paris. While there he met Capt. John H. Kiplinger. He states that he is well and enjoying good health. He is now stationed at Rennes, France.

RED BLOODED PEOPLE LIVE THE LONGEST

Red blooded people retain their youth and vigor until late in life because red blood ages slowly.

A child with impure blood seems old, while an old man with pure red ironized blood seems young.

Impure blood clogs the system with waste matters, rapidly ageing body, mind and spirit.

Pure blood is red blood, rich in Iron and Phosphates with power to rid itself of waste matter and able to carry life-giving oxygen to every cell and nerve. It makes both young and old bright, happy, keen, and interested in life. This is the blood you need, every day of your life, the rich red blood made by pure food, fresh air, restful sleep and "Phosphated Iron the red blood and nerve builder".

Phosphated Iron enriches your blood and nerves, putting them in shape for work. Improves your color, increases your appetite and gives you strength, vigor and power to enjoy both work and pleasure, makes you feel like doing things once more.

Phosphated Iron is prescribed by leading doctors for all who are worn out, run down, nervous, weak and thin blooded people in all walks of life, they have learned to depend on it for honest results.

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron, we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute pills or tablets, insist on the genuine, in capsules only.

MANY SAVED BY "CANNED BLOOD"

One of the Remarkable Developments of Great War.

IS TRIUMPH OF SURGERY

Knowledge Gained by Experience in Other Wars the Basis of Its Use—Work of Medical Men After Battles Shows Wonderful Advance Made in Science—American Army Surgeons Keep Up With Pace.

The war department authorizes the following statement from the office of the surgeon general:

One of the remarkable developments of war surgery was the use made in the American expeditionary force of "canned blood." The lives of many wounded soldiers were saved through transfusion of blood. "Canned blood" is a colloquialism, for in reality sterile flasks were used to contain tested bloods which were prepared for use in an emergency.

A few years ago treatment by this method would have seemed incredible. Due to the advancement of war surgery, however, many things became possible, and American army surgeons kept the pace. The unadorned story of the development and technique of blood transfusion in the American expeditionary force comes from a medical corps officer of the surgeon general's office, who, for more than a year, was with the American expeditionary force.

• Knowledge gained by experience in other wars has shown that of the many causes of death among wounded soldiers there are two which have stood out prominently as heavy factors: Shock and hemorrhage. Shock is a peculiar phenomenon, the exact nature of which has been a mystery. Since the beginning of the war, however, there has been a concentration of effort to solve this mystery, and now, although the true physiological mechanism in the production of shock is not entirely solved, the scientific workers of the allied countries and the United States have gone far in their efforts toward a better understanding of it.

Shock and Hemorrhage.

Shock is characterized principally by loss of body heat, prostration and unconsciousness, a lowered blood pressure and an alteration in the circulation—a stagnation of blood somewhere in the body, most probably in the capillaries. As a matter of fact, for some time medical men have spoken of shock as a condition in which an individual bleeds into his own blood vessels; and, in the sense that there is a loss of blood from the circulation, an analogy does exist between shock and hemorrhage. It has been shown that there are certain predisposing factors in the production of shock, namely, fatigue, hunger, exposure and excitement. Little need be said about the cause of hemorrhage, because every one knows that when wounds are inflicted, bleeding occurs.

Concerning treatment, it is of interest to know that the transfusion of blood is by no means a modern idea, for it was resorted to as early as the fifteenth century. At that time, however, and until very recently, it was a procedure attended with the probability of grave results. Hence it really is perfection of the technique that has made the procedure available for sure and easy use in the army and elsewhere.

For the use of the army medical science offered several different methods of performing a blood transfusion. By the old method, called the "direct," the blood vessels of two individuals are connected by sutures and the blood is allowed to flow from one individual to another. This was improved upon by the use of a specially devised tube to connect the vessels. Any such

After the "Flu" —Fever or Cold

Clean the Acidity and Toxic Poisons
Out of the Digestive Tract

Millions are now suffering from the after effects of the deadly "flu," a fever or a cold. Their appetites are poor; they are weak, and they are waiting for their strength to come back. If these people could only realize that the return to health and strength would be greatly helped by giving attention to the stomach—that is, removing the acidity and toxic poisons from the entire digestive tract, making it act naturally, so that the body will receive the full strength of the food eaten—a great deal of suffering would be saved to humanity.

Everyone knows that the disease itself, and the strong medicines that have been taken, upset the stomach, leave it hot and feverish, the mouth dry, the tongue coated, a nasty taste, and no desire to eat. This is a poor foundation to build new strength on.

Now, tens of thousands of people all over this country are using EATONIC for the purpose of cleaning these poisonous after-effects right out of the system and they are obtaining wonderful results—so wonderful that the amazingly quick benefits are hardly believable, just as shown in the remarkable letter which is published upon the request of this sturdy old Civil War veteran. He is 77 years old. Read what he says EATONIC did for him:

"I am an old soldier, past seventy-seven years. I had the Spanish influenza and it left my stomach in an awful shape. I tried three different doctors but got no relief. As a last resort I sent and got a box of EATONIC and to my greatest surprise the very first tablet I took helped me. I can now eat anything I want, and feel fine."

Yours thankfully,
Fowler, Indiana

P. S.: If you can make any use of this letter for suffering humanity, you are at liberty to do so. C.S.M.

This is only one case out of thousands. You should make the EATONIC test in your own case at once. You have everything to gain—not a penny can you lose, for we take all the risk. Your own common sense, your own feelings, tell you that a good appetite, good digestion, a good stomach, with the fever poisons and effects of strong medicines out of your system, will put you on the road to strong, robust health again.

You want to enjoy life again after you have battled with the "flu," fever or colds, or any other illness that has taken your strength. You want to get back your old-time vigor, be full of pep and enthusiasm—be able to work with ease, instead of listlessly, half-heartedly dragging out a mere existence.

So be sure to take a box of EATONIC home with you today. We cannot urge this too strongly. If EATONIC fails to give you positive beneficial results, it will not cost you a penny. There is no risk—the benefit is surely all for you.

BEGINS ITS PROGRAM OF RECONSTRUCTION

Bloomington First Baptist Church's
"Victory Campaign" to Celebrate 75th Anniversary.

MANY SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM

Bloomington, Ind., Mar. 18.—Celebrating the seventy-five anniversary of its foundation, the First Baptist Church of this city today began its program of reconstruction in keeping with the movement of the denomination in the much heralded "Victory Campaign." Tonight the congregation will pay tribute to those of its number for whom service stars have been added to its flag.

"I'll Carry My Mother's Bible Next to My Heart", is the title of a song which is to be sung tonight. It was sung to the soldiers in France. Several service men are on the program, among them Lieut. Walter Matthews, Sergt. George Shilling and Captain Wright.

The meeting tonight has been heralded by minor celebrations throughout the week, of which this one is to be the climax. Tomorrow night William L. Bryan, president of Indiana University, will address the meeting. This will be followed by another meeting, at which the following persons will speak: the Rev. King Linquest, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Ragoon, Burma; the Rev. Seldon Roberts, Baptist Sunday school expert; Dr. C. E. Goodsall, president of Franklin college and the Rev. C. M. Dinsmore, superintendent of State Missions.

APOLOGY CLOSING INCIDENT

Spalato, Mar. 18.—As a result of the incident of March 8, when the Jugo-Slavs compelled an Italian warship to haul down its flag, British and American destroyers arrived here yesterday and required the Jugo-Slavs to apologize to the Italian commander. The apologies were made aboard an Italian destroyer in the presence of allied officers.

BOHEMIANS DON'T CARE FOR GERMANS

Slovak Area Feeling For the Huns is Strong and Manifested Openly in Czecho-Slovak Area

THERE HAS BEEN NO ABUSE

Until Present Revolution Germans Favored by Hapsburgs Have Had Favors Shown Them

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, Feb. 5. (By Mail).—Germans unfortunate enough to have interests that keep them inside the Czecho-Slovak area are in a difficult position. The ill feeling of the Bohemian population for the Germans is strong and manifested openly, though there has been no abuse, except when deliberately provoked by Germans.

Until the present revolution, Germans favored by the Hapsburg government, have had special favor shown them, and have become rich by reason of their privilege. This led to a hatred on the part of the Slav elements. When the revolution destroyed German domination, a large number of Germans hastily left Prague and other cities. Others stayed, and under influence of agitators from the outside tried to provide trouble with the view of ultimate reaction against the revolution. They were squelched, and the agitation has ceased except along the borders.

The remaining Germans are looked upon with suspicion, though they are not molested. Along the border the problem is more difficult than in the center of the country and around Prague. Here the population is more mixed and in many cases has a large percentage of Germans, who have come in as industrialists. The Germans object to the Czecho-Slovaks having sovereignty over the region, just as the Czechs looked unfavorably upon German domination before.

In German Bohemia, as the border region is called, the Czechs are in control. They offer the Germans equal rights, which the latter are dissatisfied with. Long standing ill feeling makes the problem a difficult one.

The Red Cross has arranged with French institutions for the training of nurses to teach prevention and cure of tuberculosis in affected homes in France.

The accompanying cut represents our "MONARCH & PORTABLE FURNACE. This furnace is designed as a strictly first class furnace in every respect and as a portable furnace is superior to any of its kind. It is readily seen from the engraving that the furnace has a very large radiating surface. The radiator is made upon an entirely new plan having reversible flues, the smoke and heat passing through two openings each side and down to the base of the radiator and then back again to the top before entering the smoke flue, thereby preventing a loss of heat. The furnace is constructed throughout of annealed steel plates and is absolutely gas-tight in every part. The fire box is lined with fire clay tile lining. It burns anthracite and soft coal, coke, wood and natural gas. In use over 35 years. Sold and installed by

OUTLINE PLANS FOR A WAGE CONFERENCE

200 Delegates of the Policy Committee of the Mine Workers Assembly in Indianapolis Today

MEETING TO BE HELD MAR. 20.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 18.—Two hundred delegates of the policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America assembled in Indianapolis today to outline their plans for a wage conference, which will be held April 20 at the expiration of the present wage agreement. The internal problems of the organization were also to come up for discussion and it was considered probable that the reconstruction policy will be definitely decided on.

The meeting will continue several days. Frank J. Hayes, president of the United Mine Workers, was to preside at the meetings to which he invited eight delegates from each of the 26 districts.

The present point wage agreement with the bituminous operators runs from April 1, 1918 "for the duration of the war, but in no case beyond April 1, 1920". Under this stipulation, the agreement is to end "When peace is declared and promulgated" so that a joint conference with the operators may be called within the next few months.

APPROPRIATION FOR ROADS

Largest Sum Ever Available in History of United States.

(By United Press.)

Washington, March 18.—The United States will have a total of at least $547,000,000 for co-operative road building during the next three years, according to the terms of the Federal Aid Road Act. The Federal part of this fund is assured by an extra appropriation of $209,000,000 in the postoffice appropriation bill just passed by congress and signed by the President.

This amount of funds is the largest ever appropriated for a similar period by any government. It will enable the government to carry out a roadbuilding program of a magnitude never equaled.

CHAMBERS FIRELESS COOKING GAS RANGE!

Tested and Endorsed by the New York Tribune Institute

A Combination Gas Range and Fireless Cooker

By DeWitt V. Weed, Jr.,
Electrical Engineer,
And Louise M. Williams,
Domestic Scientist,
Tribune Institute Staff

REPORT OF CONSTRUCTION AND GAS EFFICIENCY.

THE CHAMBERS FIRELESS Gas Range has much the same general external appearance as other standard gas stoves, except for the cylindrical hood over one of the rear burners, the pulley weight that operates this hood and the special safety devices that fasten the oven door and turn off the oven heat and close the damper, thus sealing the oven and converting it into a fireless cooker. The fastener on the oven door is so constructed that pressure from within would cause it to open—a precaution against the remote possibility of accident.

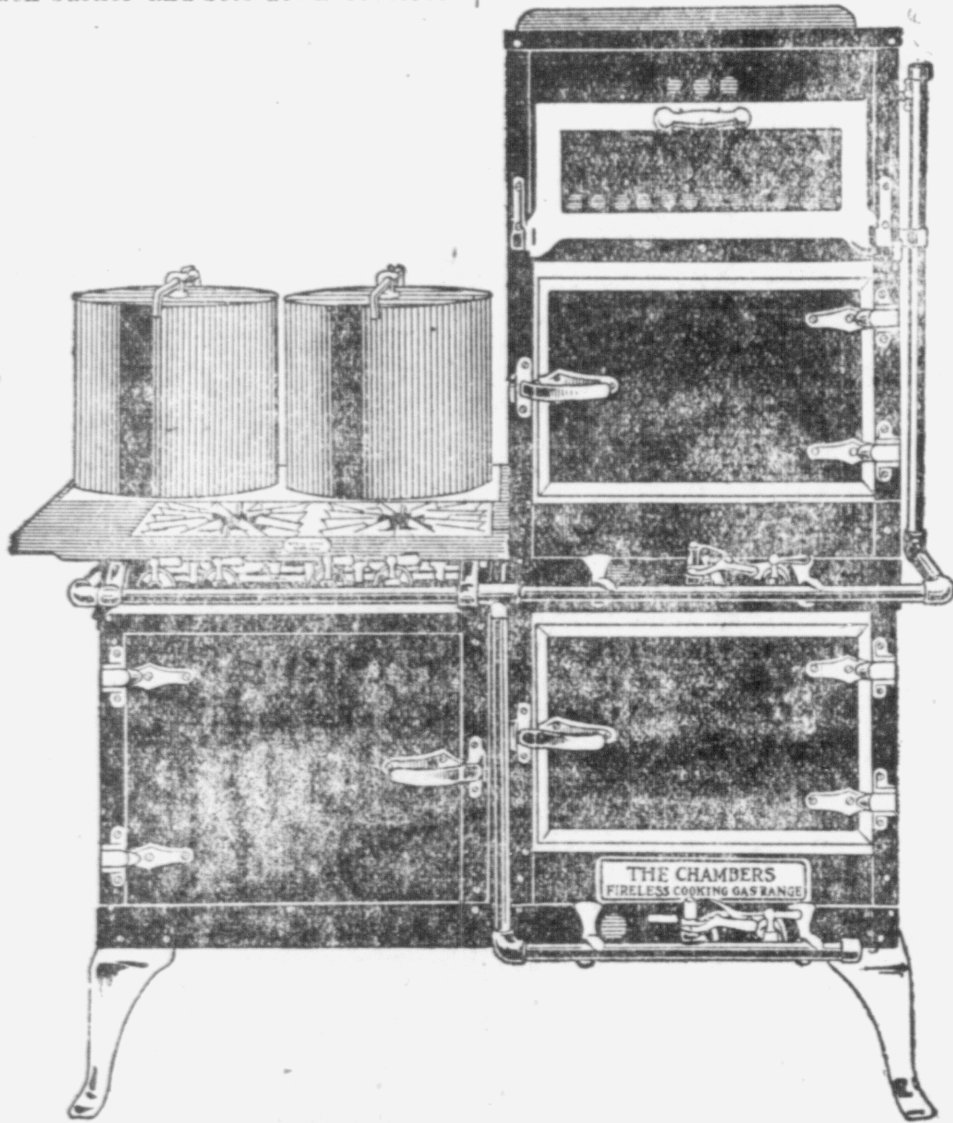

The body and frame of the range is constructed of cast iron and sheet steel, with a heavy baked black enamel covering. There are four top burners, a simmerer, an oven and a broiler. The oven is heavily insulated and provided with a damper, which must be wide open while the flame is on and tightly closed afterward, so that the heat will be sealed burning and the damper closed, which precludes the possibility of danger.

A steel insulated hood, 10½ inches wide and 9½ inches high, fits over the back burner and sets down so close-burner consumed the gas at the rate of fifteen cubic feet an hour.

The oven heats up quickly and the gas consumption is only at the rate of twenty-four cubic feet an hour, a saving of from fifty to 100 per cent, as compared with the majority of gas ovens. In fifteen minutes a temperature of 550 degrees Fahrenheit was reached, while 650 degrees Fahrenheit—a maximum temperaly on the stove top that a fireless cooker compartment is formed around utensils which have been heated over the burner. A steel rod elevates and lowers this hood and the counter weight assists in its easy movement.

The top gas burners showed a heat efficiency comparable with the best. The medium burner, with a gas consumption rate of ten cubic feet an hour, heated one quart of water in a covered saucepan to 200 degrees Fahrenheit in five and a quarter minutes, while the same test repeated over the giant burner required only four and a half minutes. This ture for fireless operations—was reached in twenty minutes. At this temperature the gas was turned off and the damper closed. The oven showed a temperature of 425 degrees Fahrenheit half an hour later, while in an hour the temperature was 325 degrees (moderate heat), and in two hours 225 degrees Fahrenheit.

In cooking with the Chambers fireless gas range no extra utensils are necessary. The heat is applied directly to the food and after the necessary length of time the gas is turned off and the food continues to cook by the confined heat in the oven or under the hood, as the case may be.

The hood is a special feature built to save fuel when long time cooking on top of the range is necessary. Because the greater part of cooking, by far, is done on top of the stove, the hood is a very economical and advantageous feature. The food is placed over the flame and the hood lowered until it stops automatically within two inches of the surface of the stove. When the gas is turned off a clutch is released which allows the hood to be completely lowered. The cooking then continues by means of the heat stored in the hood, which ordinarily would pass into the air and be wasted. The hood cannot be completely lowered until the gas is turned off. This safety feature makes the fireless hood "fool proof," for it is impossible to shut out the air while the flame is on. This, if done, would extinguish the flame, leave the gas flowing and result in spoiled food or a possible explosion.

OVEN TESTS.

Marked saving of gas and labor was also shown in the baking and roasting operations. A very tough rooster was split in half to give an equal portion for the two tests in the fireless oven and the usual gas stove. The amount of gas used in the Chambers range was 8 cubic feet, as compared with 15 cubic feet used in searing and roasting in the gas oven. The fireless-cooked section was slightly more tender, but not quite so brown as the other half, but both were remarkably eatable, considering the toughness of the bird. The Chambers again shows a saving of about 88 per cent in gas consumption with slightly superior results.

A New Way to Save Gas, and Time and Trouble

Meats—To roast meats the food is placed (with no water) in a covered roaster in the cold oven. The gas is turned on for from five to eight minutes a pound, according to the kind twenty or thirty minutes per pound, longer by fireless. The book of directions furnished with every range will give the housewife an idea of the approximate times for all cooking processes, but she must use her past experience and common sense to modify the directions to suit her own specific needs and conditions.

POTATOES—Potatoes of equal size (each 6 ounces) were baked in the Chambers fireless oven and in another gas oven. In the fireless range the potatoes were placed in the cold oven the gas turned on for twenty minutes, then shut off and the potato allowed to cook in the fireless for 30 minutes longer. This required 8½ cubic feet of gas, in comparison with 21 cubic feet necessary to bake the potatoes in the other range, about 150 per cent saving of gas. In this case the greater mealiness and fluffiness of the fireless baked potatoes were noticeable.

CAKE—The cake test was very successful. A batter sufficient to make two layers was mixed and one layer baked in each oven. For the fireless range, the oven was heated eight minutes previous to putting in the cake, then the gas was left on five minutes after the layer was in. This was followed by fifteen minutes of fireless cooking. The results were excellent; the fireless-baked cake was lighter in texture and was browned more perfectly than the layer from the other stove. The gas consumption was 6 cubic feet, while that consumed by the other stove was 10½.

Made by the Chambers Manufacturing Company, Shelbyville, Ind.

We carry in stock five sizes, ranging from $35.00 to $100.00. White porcelain doors and splashers. After reading this test, if you are not convinced of the saving, in using this range, we will install one, on 30 days trial and if it don't prove these facts, we take the range back.

LIBERTY BONDS TO PAY PRICE

National Bureau of Education Suggests
Community Buildings Dedicated to
Civic and Social Uses as Constant
Reminder of Sacrifices Made by Soldiers and Sailors—Many Communities Favor the Idea.

Soldiers' memorials in the form of community buildings, dedicated to civic and social uses, and, wherever possible, built with bonds of the fifth Liberty loan, are urged by the bureau of education, department of the interior, in a circular sent to every school community in the United States.

A number of communities have already concluded that a building, in constant use as a reminder of the sacrifice made by the soldiers and sailors of the great war, is more appropriate and enduring than the conventional grave-yard monument.

"There is a growing conviction," says Dr. Henry E. Jackson, author of the bureau's circular, "that the conventional stone shaft, placed in a grave-yard among the dead, is not a fitting memorial to those who died for freedom. The suggestion, made both in France and America, that these memorials take the form of community buildings, dedicated to civic and social uses, is obviously wise and ought to meet universal approval. On the walls of such a building should hang a bronze tablet containing the names of each community's martyrs to liberty.

The Roll of Honor.

"This type of memorial will guarantee that no boy who gave his life for justice and freedom will be forgotten. The number of American lives lost in this war is very small in comparison to those lost in the Civil war. If a community lost only three or four, it might not think it worth while to build a monument. But a community building is needed entirely apart from its memorial purpose. The chief advantage of this type of memorial, however, is not that it is economical, but that it keeps green an inspiring memory, and it seeks to put into operation, through its civic and social activities, the ideals for which our boys fought in France.

"Funds for this purpose could be raised more easily if they were raised in the form of Liberty bonds during the fifth loan, which is to come in the spring. The bonds can be used as money when the time comes to build. Thus a community can serve itself, while, at the same time, it is rendering a national service. By this method more money for the government could be raised than by any other. Not only would many individuals gladly contribute an extra bond or two for the benefit of their local community, but many who are unable to do this could pool their small gifts and contribute to a bond. Likewise, entertainments and social activities can be utilized to raise money for the same purpose. Opportunity should be given for as many as possible to have a part in the enterprise. For men to contribute outright a few Liberty bonds to a local community cause will help to dispel the delusion that a man is doing anything especially generous when he puts his money into an investment which offers the best security in the world and a fair rate of interest. To couple the fifth loan with free gifts and soldiers' memorials will make it in a real sense a Victory loan. It will be much more than this. It will be a reconstruction loan.

Should Be the School.

"Wherever possible this community memorial building ought to be the public schoolhouse, in order to prevent needless waste through duplication. It is the logical community center. It is nonpartisan, nonsectarian and non-exclusive. It is owned and operated by all the people and therefore furnishes a platform on which all can meet on terms of self-respect. The schoolhouse could be remodeled or enlarged or replaced by a new one. It is the natural capitol and clubhouse of every community. In rural districts small schools should of course be consolidated in order to eliminate a waste and secure a community large enough to support the kind of building here proposed.

"The clubhouse ought to be used for this purpose wherever possible. If in any place the school officials are unprogressive and unaware to their opportunity, then an independent building ought to be erected. Institutions are made for the people, not the people for institutions. Let us use whatever means are available for our purpose. But there is no need for any community to submit to a backward-looking board of school directors. The schools belong to the people and it is their privilege to compel school officials to be their public servants and execute their will."

In his foreword to the bureau's circular, Commissioner Claxton states that the bureau of education will gladly join with other agencies in stimulating the erection of memorials of this kind to American soldiers and sailors.

E. Thornberry, of Sebree, Ky., received by express from Arkansas a hog that weighed more than 700 pounds, and had to pay $25.13 expressage.

A Maxwell Grows Better
the More You Drive It

THAT is the test of anything good. The more you use a good watch the better it runs. The older your friends grow the better you like them.

And nothing is more pat on a Maxwell than this.

Hardly a day goes by that some Maxwell owner doesn't take his pen in hand and write that he is now passing a mark of 30,000 miles or 20,000, or 50,000.

To purchase such a man's Maxwell from him would be like trying to buy an heirloom from a rich man.

But these Maxwells of today are far better cars than those of yesterday.

For it is the policy of the Maxwell Motor Company to keep on building and building on the original chassis plan set down 5 years ago.

300,000 Maxwells have been built on this program.

1000 refinements have been made since the first car was built.

Each new Maxwell is better than yesterday's.

For doing one thing always results in doing it well.

This Maxwell you see today is so vastly improved in appearance that you may think it a new model.

But it isn't. Just a better looking Maxwell. And a better car.

NOTICE

For the Improvement of Highway on The Line Dividing Washington and Center Townships and Union Township, Rush County, Indiana.

Notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed in my office for the construction of a certain highway on the line dividing Washington and Center Townships on the north from Union Township on the south, which petition is in words and figures, as follows, to-wit:

State of Indiana, Rush County, ss:

Before the Board of Commissioners of Rush County, Indiana.

Petition for Improvement of Highway on the Line Dividing Washington, Center and Union Townships in Rush County, Indiana.

The undersigned petitioners respectfully show to your honorable board that this petition is signed by more than fifty freeholders and voters of Washington, Center and Union townships, Rush County, Indiana. That there is an existing highway separating Union Township on the south from Center and Washington townships on the north in said county, described as follows, to-wit: Beginning at the southeast corner of Section thirty-five (35) Township fifteen (15) north, Range ten (10) east on the west side of the Free Gravel Road known as the Gings and Raleigh Free Gravel Road and running thence west two (2) miles to the line separating Section 34 and 35 on the north, which are located in Washington Township, said county, from Sections 2 and 3, Township fourteen (14) north, Range ten (10) east in Union Township, said county, and thence extending west 60 rods more or less, where said road intersects with the Rushville and Dunreith pike, also with the Ohio Thompson road, which 60 rods more or less divides a portion of the southeast quarter of Section thirty-three (33), Township fifteen (15) north, Range ten (10) east in Center township, said county from a portion of the northeast quarter of Section four, Township fourteen (14) north, Range ten (10) east in said Union Township. That two (2) miles of said road is on the line dividing Washington Township on the north and Union Township on the south.

Said petition is signed by at least 20 freeholders and voters of each of the three townships abutting on said road, to-wit: Washington, Union and Center Townships, Rush County, Indiana. And that over and along said road are two school houses routes and one Rural Mail Route. That none of said townships contain any incorporated town or city and that said road does not run into or through any incorporated town or city.

Your petitioners ask that said road be improved with concrete and that the road be established as of the width it now is and that the traveled portion of said road be improved of a width of 16 feet. That said highway be graded and drained and that new culverts, ditches and bridges be constructed so that said highway be a continuous Free Gravel Road throughout its entire length, which is two miles and 60 rods more or less.

Respectfully submitted,

George H. Meyer; James W. Travis; A. C. Sharp; H. M. Nash; Jesse L. Morris; G. H. Lawson; George F. Billings; Donald Kiser; Ed Bingham; Lyle Johnson; C. E. Kiser; Frank L. Logan; Ross Logan; George Murphy; J. J. Clifton; J. S. Vandam; Don C. Buell; Henry Schenert; Harry A. McMullin; Morton Henchman; Edwin G. Meyer; Rush County, Indiana.

And that over and along said road are two school houses routes and one Rural Mail Route. That none of said townships contain any incorporated town or city and that said road does not run into or through any incorporated town or city.

MARTIAL LAW ESTABLISHED

Rioting in Cairo as Protest to Deportation of Leaders

(By United Press.)

Cairo, Mar. 18.—Cairo was under martial law last night as the result of the extension of rioting by Egyptian nationalists beginning as a protest against deportation of four of their leaders. The streets are patrolled by troops and armed cars. More than 400 arrests have been made so far. The nationalists leaders, who include two foreign Egyptian ministers, were charged with anti-British agitations. The demonstration began with one thousand university students marching to the railway station, where the leaders were taken, and demanding their release. They were dispersed when soldiers fired on them, inflicting casualties.

PROTEST TRAFFIC
IN IRON CROSSES

German Soldiers Who are Discharged are Raising Objections Against Practice.

STILL THEY ARE FOR SALE.

The German People are Proud of the Emblem of Honor Won by Their Soldiers.

By WEBB MILLER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

With the Third army on the Rhine, Feb. 20. (By Mail).—The lively traffic in Iron Crosses has raised a storm of protest from discharged German soldiers and civilians. Over a score of letters of protest from people in Coblenz have reached Third Army headquarters. And now the newspapers have taken up a campaign against the sale of Iron Crosses to American troops for souvenirs.

Despite the fact that their own townspeople are encouraging the traffic by procuring and selling the decorations at stiff prices to Americans, the objectors want the American army to put a stop to the sales. When the American troops first entered Coblenz and Trier, they found the windows of jewelry shops full of the prized Iron Crosses. The supply was quickly exhausted, at the existing prices of five and seven marks for the Crosses of first and second class respectively. The dealers then scurried around and bought fresh stocks. But the prices were jump, I to thirteen and twenty marks, and still the "doughboys" bought them by the handful.

Then the discharged soldiers began to come home—nearly every one wearing an Iron Cross. They found that nearly every American soldier in Coblenz had a half dozen or more. Hence the bitterness.

The "Koelnische Zeitung", published a long editorial upon the subject, quoting a letter written by an iron cross manufacturer in reply to an order from a dealer. The manufacturer refused the order and severely rebuked the retailer for the "disgraceful traffic."

"It appears to us", declares the newspaper, "to be an absolutely unworthy practice for German concerns to be selling iron crosses, which our troops earned in the field by shedding their blood. The German people is proud of its emblems of honor won by its soldiers, but if this emblem is to become a commercial product, indiscriminately thrown upon the market, the things for which it stands will entirely be lost sight of."

So far the protests have had no effect, and plenty of Iron Crosses are still changing hands at thirteen and twenty marks.

FINED $5 AND COSTS

Ed Tyner was fined five dollars and costs late yesterday afternoon in mayor's court when he pleaded guilty to the charge of public intoxication on March 12. He was also charged with the unlawful possession of liquor but pleaded not guilty to this charge. The trial by jury will be held in Mayor Irvin's court March 24 at 9:30 a. m.

"Old Lady 31" Coming to Murat

A red-letter day will be marked on the local dramatic calendar with the arrival of "Old Lady 31." In all theatrical history, there never has been a play like this quaint comedy of chuckles and tears, fashioned with humor, sympathy and skill by Rachel Crothers from a story by the late Louise Forrslund. Who but an imaginative playwright and a daring producer would set a comedy in an old ladies' home? But the characters are so human and warm, the types so interesting and true to life and the play so ingeniously constructed that it stands far out and above all other productions of the present time.

"Old Lady 31" is a play dealing with American life and American characters. It presents no problems of sex, war or economics. It is merely a simple tale of human characters that we see every day in our life—people that breathe the indomitable spirit of optimism that has made our country the greatest in all the world. Youth eternal reigns in this play just as it does in real life.

The story of the play begins with the taking in of an elderly man into an old ladies' home, and from that moment, laughs reign supreme. There are young people too, in the play. But why tell you more of this delectable comedy that convulsed New York with laughs for an entire season and earned for the play the distinction of being the best acted and staged comedy of the generation?

A great part of the charm of "Old Lady 31" lies in the uniform excellence of its cast.

It comes almost direct from its record ten weeks' run at the Cort Theatre, Chicago.

The present prince of Wales is the first of his title to see active military service since the invention of firearms.

Mrs. Seibert Tells How You Can Overcome Nervous Conditions

Louisville, Ky.—"I suffered badly from nervousness, a run-down condition, no appetite and pains in my back—until I just had to give up. A friend told me about Vinol and I felt better after taking the second bottle. Now I have a good appetite and am feeling fine, strong and healthy in every way."—Mrs. I. F. Seibert.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Mrs. Seibert's case, is because it contains the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich, red blood and create strength. F. B. Johnson & Co. Druggists, and Druggists Everywhere.

Spivey Wants To Tell You About

Gasoline Engines. Yes, I have them from one and one-half horse power up to any size you want. When you buy one of these engines you know you are getting the best on the market.

Then when it comes to a One-Row Cultivator, did you ever see the one I am selling? If you did not, be sure and see it. You never saw one similar to it, for it is in a class all alone—nothing like it, nothing nearly the same. You want to see this One-Row Cultivator before you buy yours; and then again, my Two-Row Cultivator has so many features that no other two-rows has, that you want to know about it. It will appeal to you all right. But I am ahead of my story.

Corn Planters come before Cultivators, and if I don't show you the best Corn Planter you ever saw, with more good features on it than all the other planters combined, then you blame me for it. I have the Planter that is perfect and the only one I ever saw that any one can plant corn with. And again I am ahead of my story.

I should have told you about Disc Harrows and Soil Pulverizers. You can't plant corn without getting the ground in perfect condition, and to do that you must have a Disc Harrow, and above all, a Soil Pulverizer—the best tool the farmer ever used. Cultivate your wheat with a Soil Pulverizer and it will pay for itself in the increase of the yield. Ask the man who uses one.

Now, the Good Wife will say, if you buy all these tools, what can I buy to help me. And I have figured this all out for you, too. You need a Primrose Cream Separator that will save your cream and make you more money from your cows, and perhaps save you some. Good idea, is it not?

And, by the way, what about a Manure Spreader, you have the manure, and why not spread it. I can also rig you out to spread your straw. You want to get all you can out of your land, and I want to help you do it, and a Manure Spreader is what it takes.

And a good Wagon is very essential to a good farmer, and every farmer knows what a Webber Wagon is—that is the kind I sell. Good judgment, isn't it?

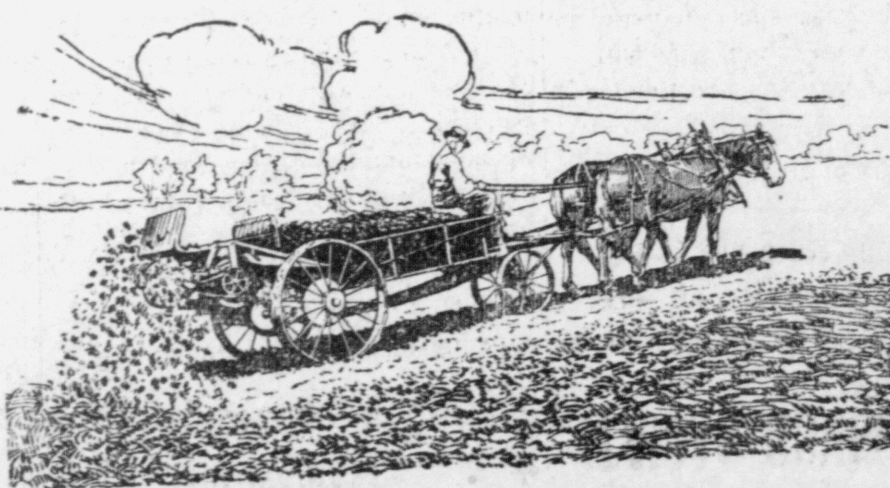

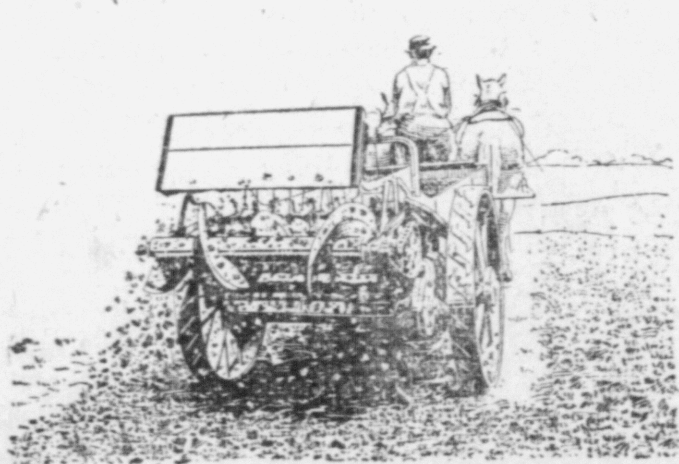

But I forgot to tell you about my Repair Department. If you want repairs for your Binder or Mower or any other machine, see me. I have what you want. Remember—You want what you want when you want it.

And don't forget that you have been thinking about that Tractor to do your breaking and to get your ground in order. I have two kinds—the Titan and the International. The Titan was never beaten in a contest and when you see the International, you will know why I took the agency. It's a Dandy.

I also have the McCormick and Deering Binders and Mowers, and all kinds of Hay Tools, but then I will take that up a little later. Don't forget the McCormick and Deering Binder Twine, or the Motor Truck of different sizes to do your hauling with. And by the way, when I was talking about Gas Engines, I forgot to say that you will want a Grinder, too.

In other words this store is for the Farmer, and I want every farmer in Rush County to be in this store. I have been dealing with the farmers of Rush county all my life and I know that they appreciate Service—and that is what I am going to give you. And in order to do this, I must have a volume of business in order to keep a machine expert here to look after your machinery troubles and it also takes lots of business to keep prices down, and I believe you are going to appreciate what I am doing for you and I know that I will appreciate your co-operation.

No Motives Are Found For Other Theories Suggested to Explain
Milroy Woman's Death.

NO VERDICT FOR SOME TIME

Joshua Grace, Who is Recovering,
Will Not Testify at Coroner's Inquest Until Tomorrow.

Although there will be a verdict in the case, it appeared probable today that the mystery of the death of Mrs. Sarah Grace, who was found dead in her home in Milroy Sunday morning, will never be solved.

Her husband, Joshua Grace, former Milroy druggist, who was almost asphyxiated at the time his wife lost her life, is the only person known who can throw any light on the case, and he has stated that he does not know what caused Mrs. Grace's death.

When he recovers from the effects of the shock, it is possible that Mr. Grace, who will testify at the coroner's inquest tomorrow, may be able to give some further details concerning the incidents of the night when Mrs. Grace died.

Taking Mr. Grace's testimony was deferred until tomorrow by the coroner, Dr. John M. Lee, at Mr. Grace's request, because it is believed that his mind will be clearer by that time. He was in a stupor all day Sunday and most of yesterday, and did not realize that his wife was dead until yesterday afternoon, although he had been informed Sunday that she was dead. Mr. Grace showed great grief when he apparently began to realize what had happened.

Dr. Lee stated today that he might not return a verdict himself, owing to the strange aspects of the case, but instead leave it to the coroner's jury. In any event, no verdict will be reached for several days, pending further developments.

The coroner will not order a post-mortem on the body of Mrs. Grace unless there is some evidence to show that her death was not suicide. Thus far, it is stated that nothing has been found to indicate that she met her death at the hands of another person. The evidence of the

Concern Felt Late Monday Because of Continued Rain, But Flood
Was Receding Today

NO SERIOUS DAMAGE CAUSED

High water which has caused citizens much anxiety in the last thirty-six hours, has receded today until there is no danger whatever. Many of the streams about the city overflowed their banks, and at present the lowlands along Flatrock are still under water. Much concern was felt late yesterday afternoon when the rain continued to fall and one family is reported to have moved from their home to be out of danger.

The water was within a few inches of the mark set in 1916 but several feet under the record high water mark during the flood in 1913. Although many fences were washed away by the high water, no serious damage was reported.

Total rainfall during Saturday, Sunday and Monday was 3.70 inches. Total rainfall since the first of the month is 5.05 inches, which is 1.02 above the normal rainfall for March. The total rainfall for January, February and March is 10.70 inches, being 3.39 inches below normal for the period of the Retail tobacco dealers who have their inventories made out may submit them to Mr. Barnes, the revenue officer, who is now at the postoffice. Mr. Barnes will be located at the postoffice the rest of this week and no longer and it is urged upon all whose duty it is to see him, to do so as soon as possible. Those who do not have the blanks are urged to go to Mr. Barnes' office at the postoffice and secure them and fill them out. It is of vital importance to all retail tobacco dealers that they see Mr. Barnes during this week.

PRESIDENT MEETS ALLIED PREMIERS

Disposition of German Warships and Cables Among Questions
Discussed Today

LEAGUE DRAFT READY SOON

Probably Will be Submitted for Inclusion in Preliminary Peace
Pact Saturday

(By United Press.)

Rome, Mar. 12.—Italy will demand an indemnity of $3,000,000,000 from Austria-Hungary, it was reported officially today. One billion of this will be asked in cash, the remainder to be paid within the next five years through iron shipments.

Paris, Mar. 18.—The sub-committee of the league of nations commission met today, two days ahead of schedule. All neutral countries with the exception of Spain were represented.

President Wilson met the allied premiers today to continue discussion of such outstanding questions as dismantling of the Heligoland and canal fortifications and disposition of the German warships and cables. The next meeting of the supreme war council will be held tomorrow afternoon.

The league of nations covenant as it is to be submitted for inclusion in the preliminary peace treaty with Germany, will be ready Saturday, it was indicated in certain official circles today.

At the same time it was stated that the entire treaty, including the covenant, will be completed by a week from Saturday.

The league itself will be an actual fact within a few weeks unless Germany refuses to sign the preliminary treaty or the various allied parliamentary bodies refuses to ratify the pact. So far as the Germans are concerned, British opinion is that creation of the league is the one thing most likely to lead the enemy to ready acceptance of the less pleasing terms.

The committee on the responsibility for the war has reached the stage of including the reports of its various sub-committees in a single recommendation. But the other committees are not so far advanced.

Neutral representatives are now calling on Col. House to present their views of the league.

Added to the prospect for early completion of the peace program is the fact that Premier Lloyd George has practically decided not to return to England this week as he had originally planned.

NO ADDITIONAL PAY FOR TRUSTEES

Attorney General and Board of Accounts Say no Fees Are Allowed For Enumeration

VOTERS MAY NOT BE LISTED

Law Gives Permission to Employ Assistants in Taking Enumeration of School Children

Ruling directly on a Henry county case, the attorney general and the state board of accounts have decreed that township trustees are not entitled to additional compensation for taking the enumeration of voters and for obtaining the school enumeration. The question was put up to the state board of accounts and in return submitted to the attorney general when the trustees here desired to know just where they stood on a matter of compensation for taking the enumeration of voters, considered a useless piece of work.

Since the trustees see no more pay in sight for a lot of additional work, the indications are that the enumeration of voters will not be taken, unless the county council makes an appropriation or unless the matter gets into the courts. The law provides for the township trustee taking both enumerations and in the case of the school enumeration he is authorized to employ assistants, but nothing is said specially about assistants in taking the enumeration of voters. The state board of accounts and the attorney general, however, in the opinion received here, declare that if the trustee hires assistants to take the voters' enumeration the county bears the expense. The county could stand the expense, but there is no appropriation for this specific work and under the law there must be an appropriation before the work is contracted for. The trustees are not "crazy" about taking this enumeration, which is done every six years, and as a result the county council is not likely to be asked for the appropriation.

The ruling received here suggests to the township trustees that in employing assistants for the school enumeration they should either be paid by the day or by the head and

NOT AUTHORIZED TO RECORD THEM FREE

County Recorder Here Not Notified

WORD RECEIVED ELSEWHERE

Other county recorders in the state have been notified to accept the discharges of returned soldiers for recording free of charge, according to a report received from the secretary of state, but the local office has received no notification to this effect. A bill to allow soldiers to record their discharges free was passed by the legislature and it is presumed the governor has signed it.

The instruction was sought in other counties because many protested against a fifty cent recorder's fee that is being required of returned soldiers for recording their discharge papers. The recorder has no authority to record the discharges free but is expecting the notification at any time. The papers have been accepted for record and have been put in the miscellaneous column but when instructions are received to record them free of charge, a special blank will be filled out for the discharges and those that have been recorded in the present list will have to be transferred from the miscellaneous to the special list.

APPEAL RECEIVED BY POSTMASTER

All Owners of War Savings Stamp
Are Requested to Hold Them
Until Maturity

IT IS A PATRIOTIC DUTY

Although the Fighting Has Ceased
The Government Still Needs
Financial Help

An appeal has been received by Postmaster G. P. Hunt from A. M. Dockery, 3rd. Ass't. Postmaster General urging the people to retain their War Savings Stamps until the date of maturity. He states that it is a good investment and as the Government still needs funds although fighting has ceased it is their patriotic duty to hold their certificates. The appeal is given herewith:

Regulations of the Postmaster General and instructions of this office heretofore issued have clearly defined your duties in respect to the sale of War Savings certificate stamps and the procedure necessary for their payment. They are not transferable, but when stamps are properly affixed to a War Savings certificate, owners of stamps are entitled to payment after ten days' notice in writing. Unregistered War Savings certificates at any money-order postoffice and registered War Savings certificates only at the office and registered War Savings certificates only at the office of registration.

Many owners of stamps are presenting them for payment, seemingly on the assumption that the Government no longer needs the money received for them. While it is true the war is practically at an end, it is equally true that a large part of the expenditures of the war must still be met by the sale of War Savings stamps and Liberty Loan bonds. The sudden termination of the war, left the Government involved in expenses that might in part have been avoided if it had been known when the war was to end, but of course it was not possible to anticipate this event. The financial obligations of the war must therefore continue for many months, and the National Treasury needs the money received from the sale of War Savings stamps to aid in meeting them. The expenses of demobilization

Modern Appliance Building Up
In Festive Attire.

DANCE FRIDAY CLOSING SHOW

All arrangements have been completed for the automobile show to be given by Rushville dealers Thursday and Friday, in the building in West Third street, which was formerly occupied by the Modern Appliance company.

Decorators employed by the Kokomo Decorating company, which has the contract for decorating the interior of the building, have arrived here and are dressing the place up in festive attire in preparation for the event.

The show will open Thursday morning and will continue in the afternoon and Friday morning and afternoon. On Friday evening the machines will be moved out and a dance will be given by the local automobile dealers. A five-piece orchestra from Franklin will provide music for the show and the dance both. A platform has been erected in the center of the floor for the orchestra.

Twenty-five models of automobiles sold by Rushville dealers will be on display.

SAYS THE GERMAN PEOPLE ARE CRAZY

Maximilian Harden Declares the Present Government Should and Will be Overthrown.

STILL HAS FAITH IN WILSON

Says Kaiser Could Return to Germany and Regain the Throne if he Was not a Coward.

(By United Press.)

Berlin, Mar. 18.—President Ebert today ordered War Minister Noske to abolish the standing order for execution of all persons opposing the government by force of arms. The president is understood to have taken this action as the result of a storm of protest from the radicals.

Berlin, Mar. 18.—Maximilian Harden, editor of Zukunft, and Germany's most outspoken citizen, told the United Press today that:

"The present government should be and will be overthrown."

"The German people are crazy."

"The Kaiser, if he was not a coward, could return to Germany and regain the throne."

"Success of the league of nations and world peace depends upon close and friendly relations between Germany, Great Britain and America."

Harden is now in bad repute with all classes, with the old regime, because he continually fought them during the war, and with the revolutionists because Germany has not benefited so far by following President Wilson as he advocated.

"I am flooded with letters from people asking me why I told them to follow Wilson and why Germany is still starved by the blockade," said Harden. "I don't understand the latter but my faith in Wilson is undiminished. I am confident he will prevail. But it is hard to satisfy people who are hungry or those who are using the situation against Wilson and us liberals."

"Germany's new republican government is not anything to be proud of. It is entirely too much like the old regime. But for the time being it ought to be recognized and dealt with liberally to prevent Germany from falling into the hands of the Bolsheviks."

"The present government thinks it must build bridges from the old to the new regime instead of making the transit clean cut," he said.

"The government must be overthrown in favor of one that is honest and trustworthy. It is pathetic that no one was elected to the national assembly who possessed both ability and the confidence of the people. There are brains in Germany if they are only given a chance. The government does not realize the difficulty of the peace problems or Germany's position."

POSSIBILITIES OF NEW ROAD LAW

County Unit Statute Will Double
Funds Available For Highways
in The County

ADDED VALUATION HELPS TOO

Attorneys Disagree as to Whether Three-Mile Road Law Is Affected by New Measure

An opportunity for good roads, unsurpassed in the history of Rush county, is seen by Rush county men who have long been advocating highways of a permanent character, because of the action of the recent session of the legislature in passing the county unit road law, but there are some things regarding the law which will have to be cleared up before any proceedings are started under the statute.

Attorneys are not familiar with the law because they have not seen a copy of the bill as it was finally passed. Many were aware of its contents when it was introduced, but in its passage through the upper and lower house of the general assembly, many changes were made, and it is not expected any steps will be taken here to build roads according to its provisions until it is carefully studied.

Lawyers interested in good roads do not expect to have an opportunity to see the law until the acts of the legislature are published, which will be some time next month. But from what they have read about the new law during its course through the legislature, they do not agree on some of its points.

For example, one attorney says that while the county unit road law may not specifically repeal the three-mile road law, it at least does it by implication. His idea is that the two laws are so nearly alike, about the only difference being that one makes the county the unit and the other the township, that they would be in constant conflict. In addition, he points out, they make the limit of road bond indebtedness so high that a county could get too heavily in debt for highways.

On the other hand, attorneys may be found here who believe that the county unit road law may be used, in addition to the three-mile road law, for building highways. They point out that townships may still build roads under the old statute, up to their four percent bonded indebtedness limit and that the county, in addition, can go ahead and build trunk lines of permanent roads up to the county's two percent bonded indebtedness limit, without having any regard for the townships which have reached their limit.

It will be seen that if this is the case, counties are limited to a sum amounting to six cents on each hundred dollars of taxables, which will

Thrilling Drama at Mystic

An extremely interesting and thrilling play is shown at the Mystic theatre today, with Tom Mix the star. The play, "Fame and Fortune" is the best thing Tom Mix has yet done.

The story tells of a young man who, born in the wildest part of the woods, suffers from the roving spirit. After years of wandering he returns home to find his father dead and an effort being made to cheat him of his inheritance. The conspirators try incidentally to murder him, but he escapes and falls into the hands of a young woman who nurses him back to life and with whom he falls in love.

But the real activity of the play is centered around a group of men who have left the town to become part of a new one. Tom Mix espouses the cause of the new town, and when the leader of the old gang tries to steal the girl he loves, there is a series of fights that stand

Medical Service in The Schools.

The greatest asset we have—far beyond crops and cattle and stocks and bonds is the children of our land. They will be the citizens of the next generation. And if they grow up to health and strength it will mean that they grow up to efficiency and power.

It is our manifest conditions to take whatever means we can to bring about the most favorable conditions for the health of growing children. That as a nation we have failed lamentably in this respect is shown by the number of men in the selective draft who were rejected for physical imperfection. Thirty-three per cent of our young men—one out of every three—were below the normal physical condition which makes a man fit for any army service.

Many of these young men were subject to physical disabilities which could readily have been prevented or remedied if they had been recognized and properly dealt with in the subject's childhood.

A thorough physical examination of each child of school age should be made twice a year. This would lead to the detection of many incipient troubles and their cure. The time will come when we shall see the services of a doctor and nurse available at every school in the land, as part of the school system.

The result will be healthier, happier and more efficient manhood and womanhood. We should all advocate such a provision for the health of children and should do all in our power to bring it about.

The Details at Last.

A Bolshevik was recently prevailed upon to elucidate the doctrines of bolshevism. He replied with the usual generalities about the abolition of wealth, etc., and being asked to give details of the program he explained that money must be abolished.

There would be a substitute, of course. We were not to return to the system of exchange and barter. There would be a certain kind of currency, but it could not be accumulated. A man who did any work would get a ticket at the end of each working day, representing his remuneration. It would have a date stamped upon it, and its validity would end in 48 hours.

He could either spend it in that time or lose it, and in this way the saving of money would be impossible. There would, therefore, be no capital.

Every sturdy community is largely a community of home-owners—not rent payers. But try to imagine a man buying a house with a bunch of stamped and dated tickets which will all expire in 48 hours. Multiply this condition by the number of the population and you can visualize one of the funny features which we shall see when bolshevism achieves order out of chaos—when, in a word, it becomes systemized.

It is equally easy to imagine any kind of systematization under bolshevik government.

be double next year on account of the new state tax law which requires that all classes of property be appraised at their true cash value. This will more than double the money available for good roads next year. There will be not only the money to be derived from the two percent limit of the county unit law, but also double the amount available under the three-mile road law.

If the 3-mile road law is not repealed, which many believe is the case, the increased valuation will open up great possibilities for the townships, practically all of which are up to their bonded indebtedness on roads. Up until 1915, road petitions were considered by the commissioners in the order of their filing, with the result that most townships always had on file petitions for roads which could not be built for years. But four years ago the legislature amended the law so that petitions may not be filed until there is money available in the township road fund. Some townships have not finished the roads which were petitioned for before the amendment of 1915.

Even though the three-mile road law should be repealed by the county unit law, the status of any of the roads already ordered under the old township law would not be affected, in the opinion of attorneys. There are now three cement road contracts to be let within a month, to be built under the three-mile road law.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spacey arrived here this morning for a short visit with relatives. Mr. Spacey has recently been discharged from the service at Quantico, Va. He enlisted early in 1917. Clarence Meyers of Milroy, Walter Trobaugh, Carmel McKinney and Tom Saunders, also enlisted at this time. He was stationed in the east during all his training and was a member of the famous First division of Marines that have covered themselves with glory. They were the ones that took Chateau Thierry and afterward when it was lost to them, retook it with very heavy casualties.

During this fighting Meyers, Trobaugh and Saunders were seriously wounded. Trobaugh is in the base hospital at Quantico, Va., at the present time and his chances for recovery are good, according to Spacey. Meyers is receiving treatment overseas and is also recovering rapidly. Saunders has recovered and is now on duty. Spacey did not get to go overseas with his company on account of having the influenza.

He stated that they were continually hearing from their company and its activities and that several times the company was reduced to fourteen and sometimes twelve men. Only nine of the original company are living to tell the story of those fierce battles. One other member, Spacey said, was in the base hospital at Quantico with the right lung completely cut away on account of inhaling gas and he also had six bullet wounds that had completely passed through his body.

Mr. and Mrs. Spacey will go from here to New Salem where they will visit relatives and friends for some time, before going to housekeeping.

ANNUAL MEETING APRIL 11

Three Directors of Telephone Company Will be Elected

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company to elect three new directors and to transact other business will be held at the sheriff's office in the court house Friday evening, April 11 at 7:30 o'clock. The terms of John H. Frazer, Frank Capp and Robert L. Tompkins, directors, will expire and their successors will be elected. The annual meeting is the time for the annual report of the financial condition of the company, which is always looked forward to with interest by the stockholders of the company.

Dr. J. S. McGraw Will Speak at the Union Meeting in the United Presbyterian Church.

TO SPEAK AT MILROY SUNDAY

The union patriotic rally which will be held in the United Presbyterian church next Monday evening at 7:30, will be addressed by Dr. James S. McGraw, of Los Angeles, Calif., general field secretary of the National Association, which has its headquarters in Pittsburg, Pa. Dr. McGraw will also speak at a union meeting at Milroy next Sunday night.

Dr. McGraw has spoken in nearly every state in the union. His cyclonic delivery striking sentences and presentation of important but often overlooked facts and principles have won him great praise.

This community is fortunate in having the opportunity of hearing Dr. McGraw speak on the subject "America and the New Era", it is stated. The meeting is for the public. Both men and women are invited. Local arrangements are in charge of the Rushville Ministerial association.

WORKERS SOUGHT FOR EUROPE

Goshen, Ind., March 18.—Goshen College received an appeal from the American Friends committee of Philadelphia, a Mennonite organization, asking that from fifty to seventy-five men be obtained for reconstruction work in France, Siberia and Russia. Twenty-five students or former students of Goshen College are now in France and twelve in Armenia. Most of the persons connected with the college had been listed as conscientious objectors during the war.

The earliest steam vessels also carried sails, the idea being to relieve the stress on the engines.

The Missionary society of the Fairview church will give a penny supper at Ralmonth hall Saturday evening, Mar. 22, from 5 to 8. Every one cordially invited.

RUSH CHAPTERWORK

Rush Chapter No. 24 will have work in the Royal Arch degree Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Visiting Masons will be welcome.

THE SUFFERER

How often have you heard that sad cry from the victims of disease. Perhaps the disorder has gone too far for help, but often it is just in its first stages and the pains and aches are only nature's first cries for help. Do not despair. Find out the cause and give nature all the help you can and she will repay you with health. Look after the kidneys. The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering and throwing off the poison that constantly accumulates in the system, everything goes wrong. GOLD MEDAL Haaslem Oil Capsules will give almost immediate relief from kidney and bladder troubles and their kindred ailments. They will free your body from pain in short order. Evangelist Miller Says Many Laymen Have More Influence With Friends Than Minister

SHOULD BE MAN'S BUSINESS

"Chickens Come Home to Roost" Will be Theme of Sermon at M. E. Church Revival Tonight

"Chickens Come Home to Roost," is the subject of the sermon which Evangelist Miller will deliver at St. Paul's M. E. church this evening following the regular song service beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Last evening's attendance exceeded expectations, considering the inclement weather, and an interesting meeting was held. The Rev. C. S. Black and Mrs. Black sang a duet during the preliminary service just before the evangelist delivered his stirring sermon on "A Question for Scoffers, Skinflints and Skeptics," in which he made a strong appeal for all of his hearers to win souls to Christ.

Decision Day which was previously announced for last Sunday was not held at that time on account of the weather and will be held instead on next Sunday at the regular morning service.

"If any one should say to you, 'What is your business,' your answer should not be 'I am a doctor, or lawyer or whatever your profession is, but your answer should be, 'My business here is winning souls to Christ and I am lawyer on the side,' " stated the speaker last evening.

"I wonder how many of you folks here have had the joy of winning others to Christ," he went on. "Over in Proverbs we read, 'He that winneth souls is wise.' It doesn't say that you have to have education to win souls. A person may be a walking encyclopedia and yet not be wise if he does not win souls. Look at Charles Finney, Gypsy Smith, Billie Sunday and many other of the world's biggest soul winners—they are men of higher education.

"Jesus picked up the illiterate fishermen as soul winners. Peter, impulsive, impetuous Peter, won 3,000 souls in one sermon and had greater success in that way than Paul, who in many ways was better educated than was Peter," he stated.

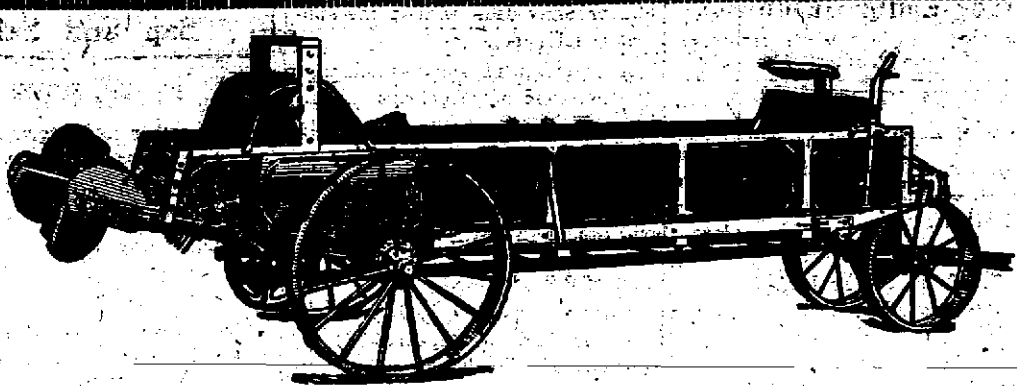

"A lot of people think if your business is soul winning you ought to have a Rev. on the front of your name and a D. D. on the back. That is not the case. Many laymen will have more influence on their friends and could get closer to them than could a minister. God has paid big investments on all of us and we owe it to us if we are a disappointment to God. Don't say that you cannot win souls. You do not know what you can do until you try."

Here the evangelist told some unusual stories of experience he has had with persons who wished to win souls and had remarkable success. The story of a 14-year-old girl who brought 23 souls to Christ in one evening in a service was told by him.

"The Gospel emphasizes two words—they are 'Come' and 'Go.' It says 'Come unto me all ye that labor and heavily laden and I will give you rest,' and then it says, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.'"

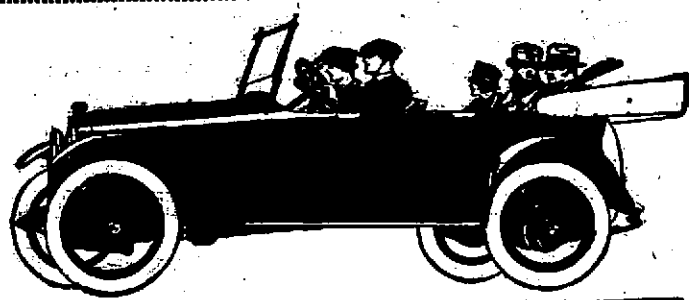

Here the evangelist told the thrilling story of a big fire in Chicago when a fireman climbed on a fire ladder to the fourth story of a hotel to save a woman whom he had never seen.

"The man could have told his

RHUM DOG IS MISSING

Hammond, Ind., Mar. 18—Hammond rhum players have asked the police to make a search for Rex, a bull terrier, who has strayed. Rex served faithfully as the lookout for a card game patronized by leading professional men. He knew who should be admitted and raised a warning howl at the approach of an intruder. It is feared some reformer may have "dog-napped" Rex. The owner of the valuable dog is Attorney Joseph Conroy.

Marine Workers Threaten to Withdraw Crews From Boats by Army and Navy

NEW DEMANDS PRESENTED

New York, March 18.—Marine workers on strike here threatened today to withdraw crews from all boats operated by the army and navy unless union crews on chartered tugs and boats are paid the same wage scale as is paid by the railroad administration. The crews of fourteen tugs chartered to coal troop ships walked out yesterday when they learned they were to be paid at the old scale and not the increased wages under the agreement recently made between the unions and the railroad administration, the army and the navy and the shipping board.

The sailing schedules of the Adriatic and other troop ships are expected to be delayed from two days

Further complications are looked for when the unions take up complaints that a "secret pact" exists between the railroad administration and the private boat owners. The controversy between the union and private boat owners was apparently far from solution today, the union leaders demanding an eight-hour day as a basis of settlement and the owners emphatically refusing to concede it.

suggests that where the assistants are employed by the head the compensation be from seven to eight cents or ranging in price from five to ten cents a head depending on the locality. This money is to be paid by the trustees out of the special school fund, for which every township has a levy.

If the enumeration of voters is taken it must be completed by July 1. There is no specified time for starting the work, only that it must be completed by this date. The school enumeration begins on April 10 and must be completed by April 30. The trustees can see no good reason for taking the enumeration of voters, especially since it means a lot of additional work without any more pay. The attorney general does not touch on the point as to whether this enumeration is compulsory.

Along with the school enumeration the trustees this year will take an enumeration of soldiers and sailors. Under instructions issued soldiers and sailors of the world war are to be listed along with the veterans of other wars.

There are three enrolled Red Cross nurses in Africa: one in India, 26 in China, 17 in the Philippines, one in Persia, 26 in the Canal Zone, two in South America and others in Turkey, Egypt, the Samoa Islands and Korea.

FRISKY GARDEN TEAM ON A BRISK MORNING

These boys got up early one brisk spring morning, and in a couple of hours they had the soil of their garden plot broken up and free of clods.

The gardener who has no roller can get rid of his clods by breaking them with a hoe, spade, or other tool. Clods lock up within themselves the food that plants must have in order to grow, and they must be broken up thoroughly if the gardener expects to get the best returns. In spading the garden the clods should all be broken with the edge of the spade as the soil is being turned over. Where the garden is plowed clods can be broken to best advantage just behind the plow and before they have a chance to dry.

Services For Former Rush County Man at Home Near Kingston

The funeral services of Marshall E. Newhouse, who died at the Methodist hospital in Indianapolis last Friday night following an operation, were held this afternoon at the late residence near Kingston, Decatur Co. Many relatives from this county, where Mr. Newhouse was born and reared, including three brothers who live in the county, attended the funeral.

The body will be buried at Kingston. He died in a hospital at Indianapolis Friday night. Mr. Newhouse was a prominent agriculturist and was a leader in farmers' institute work. He was one of the organizers of the Independent Telephone Company of Decatur county. When in the legislature, Mr. Newhouse was author of the southern prison bill, the $700 mortgage exemption bill and the bill establishing the Southeastern Hospital for the Insane.

PIONEER WOMAN OF THE COUNTY IS DEAD

Mrs. Rhoda J. Tittsworth, Age 73. Expires at Her Home in Noble Township of Apoplexy

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY, 2 P. M.

Mrs. Rhoda J. Tittsworth, age seventy-three years, a pioneer resident of Rush county, died at her home in Noble township last night of apoplexy about ten o'clock. Mrs. Tittsworth suffered a stroke yesterday afternoon and never regained consciousness. She was very similarly afflicted two years ago although physicians did not then pronounce it apoplexy.

Mrs. Tittsworth was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Applegate and was born September 9, 1845, in Noble township, where she was reared and spent her whole life. She was the widow of George W. Tittsworth, a veteran of the civil war, who died May 15, 1906. Mrs. Tittsworth was a member of the coroner's inquest shows that Mr. and Mrs. Grace did not have an enemy and that, so far as neighbors had observed, they were very devoted and lived together in perfect harmony. No motive for robbery, of which murder would be the outgrowth, is seen because Mr. and Mrs. Grace, it is declared, had no money in the house and were not in the habit of keeping money at home.

Christian church from early life and was always a faithful and effective worker. She took an active interest in agricultural affairs and successfully managed her own farm as long as her health would permit. John A. Tittsworth of this city and Ernest R. Tittsworth of Noble township, her son, and one brother, Oscar Applegate of Noble township, are the only survivors. The funeral will be held at the late residence Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock by the Rev. L. E. Brown and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

The theory of a suicide pact is discounted by the failure to find any opiate of any character in the house, or anything that might have contained an opiate. Mr. Grace told the coroner that the only thing resembling an opiate they kept was Dover's powders, which the coroner found. The belief was first expressed that Mr. Grace was suffering from an overdose of morphine, judging by his actions, but it is said that they might have been attributed to other causes.

The most accepted theory seems to be that Mrs. Grace committed suicide, because a motive can be found for such an act, and also attempted to take the life of her husband. The only missing link in the chain of evidence pointing to this theory is the exact manner in which Mrs. Grace came by her death. Physicians say that although a person could scarcely lie down before a fire in the position in which she was found, and literally burn to death, it is possible that she might have inhaled the flames, which would have resulted in almost instant death or at least an unconscious condition, and death have been caused by the fire.

Her health is regarded as the motive if Mrs. Grace did commit suicide and also attempt to cause the death of her husband. It is settled beyond any doubt that Mrs. Grace suffered because of physical infirmities. It has been learned that she worried considerably because an operation for bladder trouble, performed in Indianapolis several weeks ago, had been unsuccessful.

Mr. Grace has said since he has regained consciousness that his wife was sick the night of the tragedy and that she was up several times. He once asked her if he could be of any assistance and she replied that he could not, it is stated. Evidence taken at the coroner's inquest regarding her state of mind the day before the tragedy is conflicting. One Milroy woman, who was employed to help Mrs. Grace Saturday, testified that Mrs. Grace had told her to come back Monday because she did not feel able to direct her. Another woman, when she cleaned a chicken for Mrs. Grace Saturday evening, said that Mrs. Grace seemed in excellent spirits and apparently was very cheerful.

STYLE SHOW WEEK

At MAUZY'S

The Auto Show
Of course you will attend the Auto Show this week. Our local dealers deserve your hearty co-operation to make this, Rushville's First Auto Show, the success it merits. Join the crowds and make this a gala occasion.

In connection with the Auto Show, this store will stage during the entire week, a comprehensive display of all that is new for Spring. Every talent of the designer; every artifice of the garment builder; every knowledge of the expert have been fused in these latest creations.

This is the event that women have been looking forward to. Our display affords a comprehensive view of the new style ideas; the fashionable effects in capes, cape coats, dolmans, sport coats, motor coats; boxy suits, tailored, semi-tailored and trimmed suits; beautiful dresses, suitable for street, afternoon or evening wear; in a word, all that goes to make up fashion.

While many of the advanced style tendencies are seen in their fullest expression, a wealth of models is presented especially adapted to meet the needs of those who desire modish and fashionable garb without anything of the extreme.

And, to claim your attention too, are scores of new arrivals in handsome skirts, dainty blouses, boots, oxfords, silks, gloves, hosiery, neckwear, jewelry, bags and lingerie.

MANY SAVED BY "CANNED BLOOD"

One of the Remarkable Developments of Great War.

IS TRIUMPH OF SURGERY

Knowledge Gained by Experience in Other Wars the Basis of Its Use—Work of Medical Men After Battles Shows Wonderful Advance Made in Science—American Army Surgeons Keep Up With Pace.

The war department authorizes the following statement from the office of the surgeon general:

One of the remarkable developments of war surgery was the use made in the American expeditionary force of "canned blood." The lives of many wounded soldiers were saved through transfusion of blood. "Canned blood" is a colloquialism, for in reality sterile flasks were used to contain tested bloods which were prepared for use in an emergency.

A few years ago treatment by this method would have seemed incredible. Due to the advancement of war surgery, however, many things became possible, and American army surgeons kept the pace. The unadorned story of the development and technique of blood transfusion in the American expeditionary force comes from a medical corps officer of the surgeon general's office, who, for more than a year, was with the American expeditionary force.

Knowledge gained by experience in other wars has shown that of the many causes of death among wounded soldiers there are two which have stood out prominently as heavy factors: Shock and hemorrhage. Shock is a peculiar phenomenon, the exact nature of which has been a mystery. Since the beginning of the war, however, there has been a concentration of effort to solve this mystery, and now, although the true physiological mechanism in the production of shock is not entirely solved, the scientific workers of the allied countries and the United States have gone far in their efforts toward a better understanding of it.

Shock and Hemorrhage.

Shock is characterized principally by loss of body heat, prostration and unconsciousness, a lowered blood pressure and an alteration in the circulation—a stagnation of blood somewhere in the body, most probably in the capillaries. As a matter of fact, for some time medical men have spoken of shock as a condition in which an individual bleeds into his own blood vessels; and, in the sense that there is a loss of blood from the circulation, an analogy does exist between shock and hemorrhage. It has been shown that there are certain predisposing factors in the production of shock, namely, fatigue, hunger, exposure and excitement. Little need be said about the cause of hemorrhage, because every one knows that when wounds are inflicted, bleeding occurs.

Concerning treatment, it is of interest to know that the transfusion of blood is by no means a modern idea, for it was resorted to as early as the fifteenth century. At that time, however, and until very recently, it was a procedure attended with the probability of grave results. Hence it really is perfection of the technique that has made the procedure available for sure and easy use in the army and elsewhere.

For the use of the army medical science offered several different methods of performing a blood transfusion. By the old method, called the "direct," the blood vessels of two individuals are connected by sutures and the blood is allowed to flow from one individual to another. This was improved upon by the use of a specially devised tube to connect the vessels. Any such method, however, has many obvious disadvantages. The element of time, the necessity for great skill on the part of the operators, the possibility of infection and inaccuracy in measuring the quantity infused are some of the prominent difficulties. As a matter of fact, in civil practice, wherein a great deal of blood transfusion work is done, these methods are practically obsolete.

Indirect Methods.

The big step in the development of the procedure for common use came with the introduction of the "indirect" methods. In these, blood from one individual is received in a receptacle and then injected into another individual. The person giving the blood, it may be well to state here, is always called "the donor" and the person receiving it "the recipient."

In these indirect methods a very important consideration is the prevention of coagulation of the blood between the time it is drawn from the "donor" and the time it is infused into "the recipient."

In civil medical practice some men use what is called the "syringe method," in which the blood is removed and injected by means of glass syringes. This procedure requires three persons in order to carry on one transfusion and depends upon the quickness with which they work to avoid the possibility of coagulation of the blood. If pieces of coagulated blood should happen to be injected into any individual, some small vessel in the body probably would become plugged, the damage resulting therefrom depending upon the location of the obstructed artery. Another method eliminates the possibility of coagulation by receiving the blood of "the donor" in a solution of some substance known to prevent coagulation.

With the foregoing facts in view, the medical men who were with the American expeditionary forces decided that whatever method was adopted it would have to be one as simple as might be and which could be taught and learned in a very short time, yet one as faultless as possible. The indirect method, using sodium citrate to prevent coagulation, was decided upon. Also a type of apparatus was devised to serve as a model for the standard outfit. This apparatus was made of glass bottles, glass tubing, rubber stoppers and rubber tubing. Very little skilled work was required in preparing a large number of the sets. At the central medical laboratory the outfits were prepared and put up in carrying cases. Every officer who took the course of instruction there was sent out with a set ready for use. In blood transfusion, besides the danger of coagulation, there are other equally important conditions that may be harmful and must be taken into consideration. Of these, two are of principal importance.

First, there is the danger of the transmission of disease through the medium of the transfused blood. An individual who is suffering from such a disease, of which malaria and syphilis are examples, must never be used as a donor.

Second, there is the possible biological incompatibility between two bloods.

How it is Done.

In order to see the machinery in operation, let us say that a man in a condition of shock is brought into an evacuation hospital near the battle line. He is unconscious, cold, has a low blood pressure, and has suffered considerable blood loss before the flow had been stopped at the advance post. He is put in a special shock ward and on a special shock bed. The ward is warm, quiet, restful and well ventilated. As for the bed, that accentuates these conditions. Over it is extended a frame supporting the bedclothes in a manner that reminds one of a prairie schooner. An alcohol stove, placed upon the floor at the foot of the bed, delivers the heat into the "schooner" by means of a conducting pipe and a fenestra. The man lies under the covers with only his face exposed. It is deemed best to perform a blood transfusion upon the patient. A few drops of his blood are procured, and, by means of known serums, the blood group to which he belongs is determined. A glance at the list of donors and one is chosen who belongs to the same group. Blood is drawn from the donor into a receptacle containing sterile sodium citrate in the right proportion and this blood is injected into the wounded man.

To depart from the specific example, occasionally the blood was stored on ice for several days and then used, perhaps at the firing line. Such cases were relatively few, however. More often, if donors for almost immediate use could not be procured or were not to be had in sufficient number, a condition that arises during big attacks, certain fluid substitutes for blood were employed. As in the case of anti-coagulants, there are many such fluids. Of course any blood substitute must be harmless to tissues and red cells alike. The old standard fluid substitute, which met these requirements, was sterile normal salt solution, and, although the immediate effect of intravenous saline is equivalent sometimes to even blood transfusion, the benefit is usually lost in a short time and an opposite, deleterious effect is produced. This result, it was found, could be avoided and a relatively permanent effect secured by the use of a fluid of the same physical properties as blood.

MEETS CAPT. KIPLINGER

Cassius Smith Writes of Seeing Local Officer in Paris

Mrs. W. T. Smith has received recent word from her son, Cassius Smith, stating that he is in the transportation corps. His duty is to transport Americans from the occupied region to Brest ready to sail for the States. He also said that he had a ten days furlough, during which time he went to see the sights in Paris. While there he met Capt. John H. Kiplinger. He states that he is well and enjoying good health. He is now stationed at Rennes, France.

RED BLOODED PEOPLE LIVE THE LONGEST

Red blooded people retain their youth and vigor until late in life because red blood ages slowly.

A child with impure blood seems old, while an old man with pure red ironized blood seems young.

Impure blood clogs the system with waste matters, rapidly ageing body, mind and spirit.

Pure blood is red blood, rich in iron and phosphates with power to rid itself of waste matter and able to carry life-giving oxygen to every cell and nerve. It makes both young and old bright, happy, keen, and interested in life. This is the blood you need, every day of your life, the rich red blood made by pure food, fresh air, restful sleep and "Phosphated Iron from the red blood and nerve builder."

Phosphated Iron enriches your blood and nerves, putting them in shape for work. Improves your color, increases your appetite and gives you strength, vigor and power to enjoy both work and pleasure, makes you feel like doing things once more.

Phosphated Iron is prescribed by leading doctors for all who are worn out, run down, nervous, weak and thin blooded people in all walks of life, they have learned to depend on it for honest results.

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron, we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute pills or tablets, insist on the genuine, in capsules only.

After the "Flu" —Fever or Cold

Clean the Acidity and Toxic Poisons Out of the Digestive Tract

Millions are now suffering from the after effects of the deadly "flu," a fever or a cold. Their appetites are poor; they are weak, and they are waiting for their strength to come back. If these people could only realize that the return to health and strength would be greatly helped by giving attention to the stomach—that is, removing the acidity and toxic poisons from the entire digestive tract, making it act naturally, so that the body will receive the full strength of the food eaten—a great deal of suffering would be saved to humanity.

Everyone knows that the disease itself, and the strong medicines that have been taken, upset the stomach, leave it hot and feverish, the mouth dry, the tongue coated, a nasty taste, and no desire to eat. This is a poor foundation to build new strength on.

Now, tens of thousands of people all over this country are using EATONIC for the purpose of cleaning these poisonous after-effects right out of the system and they are obtaining wonderful results—so wonderful that the amazingly quick benefits are hardly believable, just as shown in the remarkable letter which is published upon the request of this sturdy old Civil War veteran. He is 77 years old. Read what he says EATONIC did for him:

"I am an old soldier, past seventy-seven years. I had the Spanish influenza and it left my stomach in an awful shape. I tried three different doctors but got no relief. As a last resort I sent and got a box of EATONIC and to my greatest surprise the very first tablet I took helped me. I can now eat anything I want, and feel fine.

Yours thankfully,
Fowler, Indiana
Dec. 4, 1916

O. S. Martin

P. S.: If you can make any use of this letter for suffering humanity, you are at liberty to do so. O. S. M.

This is only one case out of thousands. You should make the EATONIC test in your own case at once. You have everything to gain—not a penny can you lose, for we take all the risk. Your own common sense, your own feelings, tell you that a good appetite, good digestion, a good stomach, with the fever poisons and effects of strong medicines out of your system, will put you on the road to strong, robust health again.

You want to enjoy life again after you have battled with the "flu," fever or colds, or any other illness that has taken your strength. You want to get back your old-time vigor, be full of pep and enthusiasm—be able to work with ease, instead of listlessly, half-heartedly dragging out a mere existence.

So be sure to take a box of EATONIC home with you today. We cannot urge this too strongly. If EATONIC fails to give you positive beneficial results, it will not cost you a penny. There is no risk—the benefit is surely all for you.

BEGINS ITS PROGRAM OF RECONSTRUCTION

Bloomington First Baptist Church's "Victory Campaign" to Celebrate 75th Anniversary.

MANY SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM

Bloomington, Ind., Mar. 18.—Celebrating the seventy-five anniversary of its foundation, the First Baptist Church of this city today began its program of reconstruction in keeping with the movement of the denomination in the much heralded "Victory Campaign." Tonight the congregation will pay tribute to those of its number for whom service stars have been added to its flag.

"I'll Carry My Mother's Bible Next to My Heart", is the title of a song which is to be sung tonight. It was sung to the soldiers in France. Several service men are on the program, among them Lieut. Walter Matthews, Sergt George Shilling and Captain Wright.

The meeting tonight has been heralded by minor celebrations throughout the week, of which this one is to be the climax. Tomorrow night William L. Bryan, president of Indiana University, will address the meeting. This will be followed by another meeting, at which the following persons will speak: the Rev. King Linquest, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Ragoon, Burma; the Rev. Seldon Roberts, Baptist Sunday school expert; Dr. C. E. Goodsell, president of Franklin college and the Rev. C. M. Dinsmore, superintendent of State Missions.

APOLOGY CLOSING INCIDENT

Spalato, Mar. 18.—As a result of the incident of March 8, when the Jugo-Slavs compelled an Italian warship to haul down its flag, British and American destroyers arrived here yesterday and required the Jugo-Slavs to apologize to the Italian commander. The apologies were made aboard an Italian destroyer in the presence of allied officers.

BOHEMIANS DON'T CARE FOR GERMANS

Slovak Area Feeling For the Huns Is Strong and Manifested Openly in Czecho-Slovak Area

THERE HAS BEEN NO ABUSE

Until Present Revolution Germans Favored by Hapsburgs Have Had Favors Shown Them

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, Feb. 5. (By Mail)—Germans unfortunate enough to have interests that keep them inside the Czecho-Slovak area are in a difficult position. The ill feeling of the Bohemian population for the Germans is strong and manifested openly, though there has been no abuse, except when deliberately provoked by Germans.

Until the present revolution, Germans favored by the Hapsburg government, have had special favor shown them, and have become rich by reason of their privilege. This led to a hatred on the part of the Slav elements. When the revolution destroyed German domination, a large number of Germans hastily left Prague and other cities. Others stayed, and under influence of agitators from the outside tried to provide trouble with the view of ultimate reaction against the revolution. They were squelched, and the agitation has ceased except along the borders.

The remaining Germans are looked upon with suspicion, though they are not molested.

Along the border the problem is more difficult than in the center of the country and around Prague. Here the population is more mixed and in many cases has a large percentage of Germans, who have come in as industrialists. The Germans object to the Czecho-Slovaks having sovereignty over the region, just as the Czechs looked unfavorably upon German domination before.

In German Bohemia, as the border region is called, the Czechs are in control. They offer the Germans equal rights, which the latter are dissatisfied with. Long standing ill feeling makes the problem a difficult one.

OUTLINE PLANS FOR A WAGE CONFERENCE

200 Delegates of the Policy Committee of the Mine Workers Assembly in Indianapolis Today

MEETING TO BE HELD MAR. 20.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 18.—Two hundred delegates of the policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America assembled in Indianapolis today to outline their plans for a wage conference, which will be held April 20 at the expiration of the present wage agreement. The internal problems of the organization were also to come up for discussion and it was considered probable that the reconstruction policy will be definitely decided on.

The meeting will continue several days. Frank J. Hayes, president of the United Mine Workers, was to preside at the meetings to which he invited eight delegates from each of the 26 districts.

The present point wage agreement with the bituminous operators runs from April 1, 1918 "for the duration of the war, but in no case beyond April 1, 1920". Under this stipulation, the agreement is to end "When peace is declared and promulgated" so that a joint conference with the operators may be called within the next few months.

APPROPRIATION FOR ROADS

Largest Sum Ever Available in History of United States.

(By United Press.)

Washington, March 18.—The United States will have a total of at least $547,000,000 for co-operative road building during the next three years, according to the terms of the Federal Aid Road Act. The Federal part of this fund is assured by an extra appropriation of $209,000,000 in the postoffice appropriation bill just passed by congress and signed by the President.

This amount of funds is the largest ever appropriated for a similar period by any government. It will enable the government to carry out a roadbuilding program of a magnitude never equaled.

REPORT OF CONSTRUCTION AND GAS EFFICIENCY.

THE CHAMBERS FIRELESS Gas Range has much the same general external appearance as other standard gas stoves, except for the cylindrical hood over one of the rear burners, the pulley weight that operates this hood and the special safety devices that fasten the oven door and turn off the oven heat and close the damper, thus sealing the oven and converting it into a fireless cooker. The fastener on the oven door is so constructed that pressure from within would cause it to open—a precaution against the remote possibility of accident.

The body and frame of the range is constructed of cast iron and sheet steel, with a heavy baked black enamel covering. There are four top burners, a simmerer, an oven and a broiler. The oven is heavily insulated and provided with a damper, which must be wide open while the flame is on and tightly closed afterward, so that the heat will be sealed burning and the damper closed, which precludes the possibility of danger.

A steel insulated hood, 10 1/2 inches wide and 9 1/2 inches high, fits over the back burner and sets down so closely on the stove top that a fireless cooker compartment is formed around utensils which have been heated over the burner. A steel rod elevates and lowers this hood and the counter weight assists in its easy movement.

The top gas burners showed a heat efficiency comparable with the best. The medium burner, with a gas consumption rate of ten cubic feet an hour, heated one quart of water in a covered saucepan to 200 degrees Fahrenheit in five and a quarter minutes, while the same test repeated over the giant burner required only four and a half minutes. This burner consumed the gas at the rate of fifteen cubic feet an hour.

The oven heats up quickly and the gas consumption is only at the rate of twenty-four cubic feet an hour, a saving of from fifty to 100 per cent, as compared with the majority of gas ovens. In fifteen minutes a temperature of 550 degrees Fahrenheit was reached, while 650 degrees Fahrenheit—a maximum temperature for fireless operations—was reached in twenty minutes. At this temperature the gas was turned off and the damper closed. The oven showed a temperature of 425 degrees Fahrenheit half an hour later, while in an hour the temperature was 325 degrees (moderate heat), and in two hours 225 degrees Fahrenheit.

In cooking with the Chambers fireless gas range no extra utensils are necessary. The heat is applied directly to the food and after the necessary length of time the gas is turned off and the food continues to cook by the confined heat in the oven or under the hood, as the case may be.

The hood is a special feature built to save fuel when long time cooking on top of the range is necessary. Because the greater part of cooking, by far, is done on top of the stove, the hood is a very economical and advantageous feature. The food is placed over the flame and the hood lowered until it stops automatically within two inches of the surface of the stove. When the gas is turned off a clutch is released which allows the hood to be completely lowered. The cooking then continues by means of the heat stored in the hood, which ordinarily would pass into the air and be wasted. The hood cannot be completely lowered until the gas is turned off. This safety feature makes the fireless hood "fool proof," for it is impossible to shut out the air while the flame is on. This, if done, would extinguish the flame, leave the gas flowing and result in spoiled food or a possible explosion.

A New Way to Save Gas, and Time and Trouble

rooster was split in half to give an equal portion for the two tests in the fireless oven and the usual gas stove. The amount of gas used in the Chambers range was 8 cubic feet, as compared with 15 cubic feet used in searing and roasting in the gas oven. The fireless-cooked section was slightly more tender, but not quite so brown as the other half, but both were remarkably edible, considering the toughness of the bird. The Chambers again shows a saving of about 88 per cent in gas consumption with slightly superior results.

Meats—To roast meats the food is placed (with no water) in a covered roaster in the cold oven. The gas is turned on for from five to eight minutes a pound, according to the kind twenty or thirty minutes per pound, longer by fireless. The book of directions furnished with every range will give the housewife an idea of the approximate times for all cooking processes, but she must use her past experience and common sense to modify the directions to suit her own specific needs and conditions.

POTATOES—Potatoes of equal size (each 6 ounces) were baked in the Chambers fireless oven and in another gas oven. In the fireless range the potatoes were placed in the cold oven the gas turned on for twenty minutes, then shut off and the potato allowed to cook in the fireless for 30 minutes longer. This required 8 1/2 cubic feet of gas, in comparison with 21 cubic feet necessary to bake the potatoes in the other range, about 150 per cent saving of gas. In this case the greater mealiness and fluffiness of the fireless baked potato were noticeable.

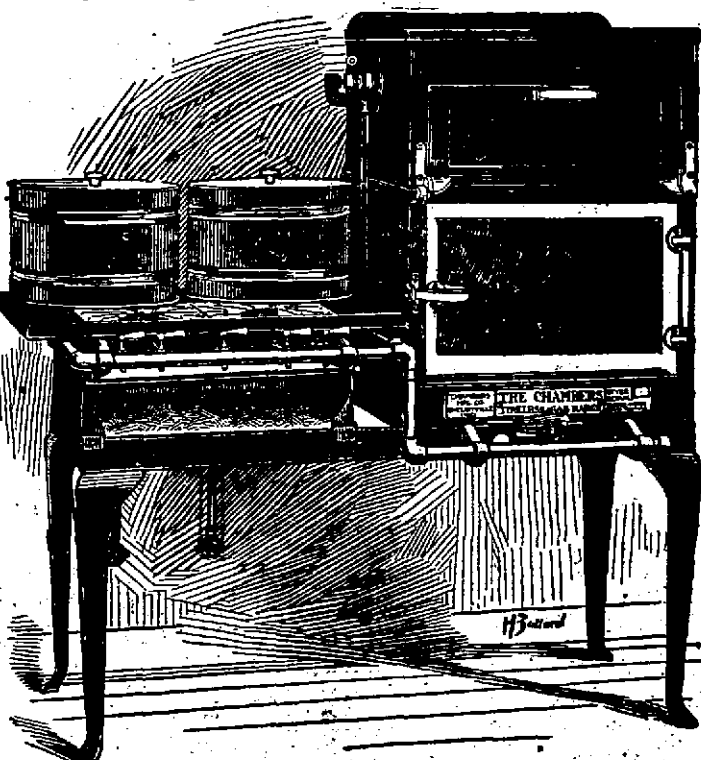

CAKE—The cake test was very successful. A batter sufficient to make two layers was mixed and one layer baked in each oven. For the fireless range, the oven was heated eight minutes previous to putting in the cake, then the gas was left on five minutes after the layer was in. This was followed by fifteen minutes of fireless cooking. The results were excellent; the fireless-baked cake was lighter in texture and was browned more perfectly than the layer from the other stove. The gas consumption was 6 cubic feet, while that consumed by the other stove was 10 1/2.

URGE BUILDINGS FOR MEMORIALS

Practical Tribute to Heroes of the Great War.

LIBERTY BONDS TO PAY PRICE

National Bureau of Education Suggests
Community Buildings Dedicated to
Civic and Social Uses as Constant
Reminder of Sacrifices Made by Soldiers and Sailors—Many Communities Favor the Idea.

Soldiers' memorials in the form of community buildings, dedicated to civic and social uses, and, wherever possible, built with bonds of the fifth Liberty loan, are urged by the bureau of education, department of the interior, in a circular sent to every school community in the United States.

A number of communities have already concluded that a building, in constant use as a reminder of the sacrifice made by the soldiers and sailors of the great war, is more appropriate and enduring than the conventional grave-yard monument. "There is a growing conviction," says Dr. Henry E. Jackson, author of the bureau's circular, "that the conventional stone shaft, placed in a grave-yard among the dead, is not a fitting memorial to those who died for freedom. The suggestion, made both in France and America, that these memorials take the form of community buildings, dedicated to civic and social uses, is obviously wise and ought to meet universal approval. On the walls of such a building should hang a bronze tablet containing the names of each community's martyrs to liberty.

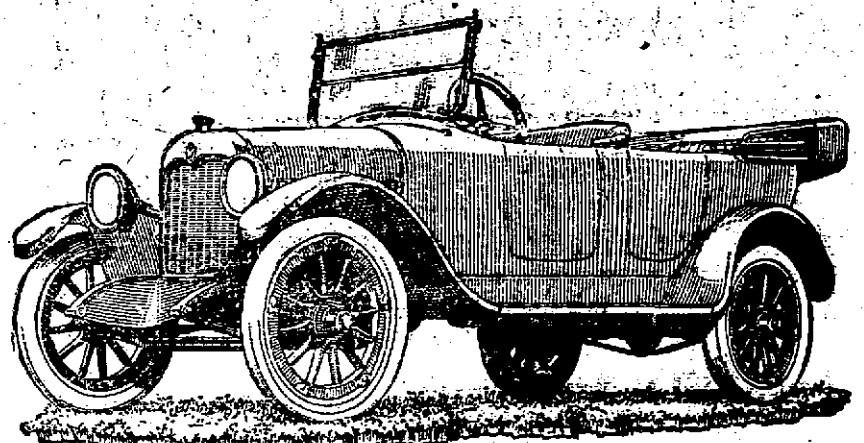

The Roll of Honor.

"This type of memorial will guarantee that no boy who gave his life for justice and freedom will be forgotten. The number of American lives lost in this war is very small in comparison to those lost in the Civil war. If a community lost only three or four, it might not think it worth while to build a monument. But a community building is needed entirely apart from its memorial purpose. The chief advantage of this type of memorial, however, is not that it is economical, but that it keeps green an inspiring memory, and it seeks to put into operation, through its civic and social activities, the ideals for which our boys fought in France.

"Funds for this purpose could be raised more easily if they were raised in the form of Liberty bonds during the fifth loan, which is to come in the spring. The bonds can be used as money when the time comes to build. Thus a community can serve itself, while, at the same time, it is rendering a national service. By this method more money for the government could be raised than by any other. Not only would many individuals gladly contribute an extra bond or two for the benefit of their local community, but many who are unable to do this could pool their small gifts and contribute to a bond. Likewise, entertainments and social activities can be utilized to raise money for the same purpose. Opportunity should be given for as many as possible to have a part in the enterprise. For men to contribute outright a few Liberty bonds to a local community cause will help to dispel the delusion that a man is doing anything especially generous when he puts his money into an investment which offers the best security in the world and a fair rate of interest. To couple the fifth loan with free gifts and soldiers' memorials will make it in a real sense a Victory loan. It will be much more than this. It will be a reconstruction loan.

Should Be the School.

"Wherever possible this community memorial building ought to be the public schoolhouse, in order to prevent

A Maxwell Grows Better the More You Drive It

THAT is the test of anything good. The more you use a good watch the better it runs. The older your friends grow the better you like them.

And nothing is more pat on a Maxwell than this.

Hardly a day goes by that some Maxwell owner doesn't take his pen in hand and write that he is now passing a mark of 30,000 miles or 20,000, or 50,000.

To purchase such a man's Maxwell from him would be like trying to buy an heirloom from a rich man.

But these Maxwells of today are far better cars than those of yesterday.

For it is the policy of the Maxwell Motor Company to keep on building and building on the original chassis plan set down 5 years ago.

300,000 Maxwells have been built on this program.

1000 refinements have been made since the first car was built.

Each new Maxwell is better than yesterday's.

For doing one thing always results in doing it well.

This Maxwell you see today is so vastly improved in appearance that you may think it a new model.

But it isn't. Just a better looking Maxwell. And a better car.

needless waste through duplication. It is the logical community center. It is nonpartisan, nonsectarian and non-exclusive. It is owned and operated by all the people and therefore furnishes a platform on which all can meet on terms of self-respect. The schoolhouse could be remodeled or enlarged or replaced by a new one. It is the natural capitol and clubhouse of every community. In rural districts small schools should of course be consolidated in order to eliminate a waste and secure a community large enough to support the kind of building here proposed.

"The clubhouse ought to be used for this purpose wherever possible. If in any place the school officials are unprogressive and unawake to their opportunity, then an independent building ought to be erected. Institutions are made for the people, not the people for institutions. Let us use whatever means are available for our purpose. But there is no need for any community to submit to a backward-looking board of school directors. The schools belong to the people and it is their privilege to compel school officials to be their public servants and execute their will."

In his foreword to the bureau's circular, Commissioner Claxton states that the bureau of education will gladly join with other agencies in stimulating the erection of memorials of this kind to American soldiers and sailors.

PROTEST TRAFFIC IN IRON CROSSES

German Soldiers Who are Discharged are Raising Objections Against Practice.

STILL THEY ARE FOR SALE.

The German People are Proud of the Emblem of Honor Won by Their Soldiers.

By WEBB MILLER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

With the Third army on the Rhine, Feb. 20. (By Mail).—The lively traffic in Iron Crosses has raised a storm of protest from discharged German soldiers and civilians. Over a score of letters of protest from people in Coblenz have reached Third Army headquarters. And now the newspapers have taken up a campaign against the sale of Iron Crosses to American troops for souvenirs. Despite the fact that their own townspeople are encouraging the traffic by procuring and selling the decorations at stiff prices to Americans, the objectors want the American army to put a stop to the sales. When the American troops first entered Coblenz and Trier, they found the windows of jewelry shops full of the prized Iron Crosses. The supply was quickly exhausted, at the existing prices of five and seven marks for the Crosses of first and second class respectively. The dealers then scurried around and bought fresh stocks. But the prices were jumped to thirteen and twenty marks, and still the "doughboys" bought them by the handful. Then the discharged soldiers began to come home—nearly every one wearing an Iron Cross. They found that nearly every American soldier in Coblenz had a half dozen or more. Hence the bitterness. The "Koenigsche Zeitung", published a long editorial upon the subject, quoting a letter written by an iron cross manufacturer in reply to an order from a dealer. The manufacturer refused the order and severely rebuked the retailer for the "disgraceful traffic."

"It appears to us", declares the newspaper, "to be an absolutely unworthy practice for German concerns to be selling iron crosses, which our troops earned in the field by shedding their blood. The German people is proud of its emblems of honor won by its soldiers, but if this emblem is to become a commercial product, indiscriminately thrown upon the market, the things for which it stands will entirely be lost sight of."

So far the protests have had no effect, and plenty of Iron Crosses are still changing hands at thirteen and twenty marks.

FINED $5 AND COSTS

Ed Tyner was fined five dollars and costs late yesterday afternoon in mayor's court when he pleaded guilty to the charge of public intoxication on March 12. He was also charged with the unlawful possession of liquor but pleaded not guilty to this charge. The trial by jury will be held in Mayor Irvin's court March 24 at 9:30 a. m.

Flowers of France Freely Offered For Freedom's Sake

Six millions of the youth and chivalry of France have been offered that Freedom might live. The world will ever remember this heroic sacrifice and outpouring of the blood of its youth. It is likewise not unkind of the great service to the world rendered by the French peasants who have given it a perfect remedy for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, relieving, it is said, incalculable suffering, saving thousands of lives and preventing innumerable surgical operations. The ingredients are imported and placed on sale in this country under the name of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy by Geo. H. Mayr, a leading Chicago chemist. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Spivey Wants To Tell You About

Gasoline Engines. Yes, I have them from one and one-half horse power up to any size you want. When you buy one of these engines you know you are getting the best on the market.

Then when it comes to a One-Row Cultivator, did you ever see the one I am selling? If you did not, be sure and see it. You never saw one similar to it; for it is in a class all alone—nothing like it, nothing nearly the same. You want to see this One-Row Cultivator before you buy yours; and then again, my Two-Row Cultivator has so many features that no other two-rows has, that you want to know about it. It will appeal to you all right. But I am ahead of my story.

Corn Planters come before Cultivators, and if I don't show you the best Corn Planter you ever saw, with more good features on it than all the other planters combined, then you blame me for it. I have the Planter that is perfect and the only one I ever saw that any one can plant corn with. And again I am ahead of my story.

I should have told you about Disc Harrows and Soil Pulverizers. You can't plant corn without getting the ground in perfect condition, and to do that you must have a Disc Harrow, and above all, a Soil Pulverizer—the best tool the farmer ever used. Cultivate your wheat with a Soil Pulverizer and it will pay for itself in the increase of the yield. Ask the man who uses one.

Now, the Good Wife will say, if you buy all these tools, what can I buy to help me. And I have figured this all out for you, too. You need a Primrose Cream Separator that will save your cream and make you more money from your cows, and perhaps save you some. Good idea, is it not?

And, by the way, what about a Manure Spreader, you have the manure, and why not spread it. I can also rig you out to spread your straw. You want to get all you can out of your land, and I want to help you do it, and a Manure Spreader is what it takes.

And a good Wagon is very essential to a good farmer, and every farmer knows what a Webber Wagon is—that is the kind I sell. Good judgment, isn't it?

But I forgot to tell you about my Repair Department. If you want repairs for your Binder or Mower or any other machine, see me. I have what you want. Remember—You want what you want when you want it.

And don't forget that you have been thinking about that Tractor to do your breaking and to get your ground in order. I have two kinds—the Titan and the International. The Titan was never beaten in a contest and when you see the International, you will know why I took the agency. It's a Dandy.

I also have the McCormick and Deering Binders and Mowers, and all kinds of Hay Tools, but then I will take that up a little later. Don't forget the McCormick and Deering Binder Twine, or the Motor Truck of different sizes to do your hauling with. And by the way, when I was talking about Gas Engines, I forgot to say that you will want a Grinder, too.

In other words this store is for the Farmer, and I want every farmer in Rush County to be in this store. I have been dealing with the farmers of Rush county all my life and I know that they appreciate Service—and that is what I am going to give you. And in order to do this, I must have a volume of business in order to keep a machine expert here to look after your machinery troubles and it also takes lots of business to keep prices down, and I believe you are going to appreciate what I am doing for you and I know that I will appreciate your cooperation.
